

Action Is Delayed on UR Center Council Approves Several Measures

A proposal aimed at gaining a $400,000 civic center for downtown's urban renewal area to be known as the Rondout Neighborhood Center was left in committee at Wednesday night's Common Council meeting for possible consideration at its regular April 5 session.

A budget note for $2,700 to acquire a property near the Abel Street railroad bridge for widening of the street, a Fair Street zoning change, and removal of parking meters in downtown areas were approved.

Waiting for Legal Forms
An application from the Kingston Housing Authority dealing with a boundary change in the downtown urban renewal project area was left in committee for possible action at the April meeting when it is also possible that application for 32 new units of senior citizens' housing will be considered.

Alexander Yosman, executive director of the Housing Authority, today said he awaits arrival of state legal forms dealing with the latter.

The civic center proposal was left with the council's urban renewal, finance and laws and rules committees.

Eric Hemphill, executive director of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency announced Monday that land in the downtown housing development area is now ready to be taken by the Housing Authority and Alderman-at-Large Francis R. Koenig announced on the same day that after a recent meeting with Yosman it was decided that application should be made for the Rondout Neighborhood Center.

Reds Grab Four Tanks

The Reds made off with four American-made tanks in the raid on the headquarters 12 miles north of Saigon, but Vietnamese forces destroyed two and recaptured the others, a spokesman said.

The number of South Vietnamese killed rose from 131 to 232 last week but the number of missing declined from 97 to 73, Vietnamese wounded are not disclosed.

Communist losses reported by the Allies declined sharply during the week of March 13-19, with 627 killed and 59 captured compared with 1,224 killed and 106 captured the week before.

U. S. Air Force jets carried the air war to North Vietnam's Muija Pass for the third straight day. A spokesman said they left the strategic highway to the Ho Chi Minh Trail clogged with the wreckage of 19 trucks, five of which blew up. This indicated they were carrying munitions, an Air Force spokesman said.

Kayo Two Bridges

Other Air Force and Navy jets knocked out two bridges and strafed six junks in the North Vietnamese panhandle and laced again into the Red River valley rail line from Hanoi northwest to the Chinese border in a total of 67 missions Wednesday.

Off South Vietnam, U.S. 7th Fleet destroyers joined air and ground forces in battering the Communists.

Air Force and Navy F5 Freedom Fighters and F100 Super Sabres pounded Viet Cong positions only 25 miles north of Saigon, setting off three secondary explosions and blasting scores of huts, fortifications and mortar positions. Pilots estimated 23 Viet Cong killed when they were caught in the open.

Red Battalion Reels

An even heavier blow hit a Communist battalion which attacked the Bu Prang outpost 112 miles northeast of Saigon before dawn. With flare panels illuminating the enemy positions, artillery and 20 air sorties beat off the Reds during a five-hour fire fight. A spokesman said they left behind 151 bodies, three 50-caliber machine guns, a recoil-

Cong Mauled, Count 501 Dead, 24 Hours

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An unrelenting display of firepower from ships, planes and artillery cost the Viet Cong 501 killed in the past 24 hours while U.S. fighter-bombers caused new havoc along North Viet Nam's truck and rail routes, Allied officials reported today.

On Saigon's outskirts, South Vietnamese troops and planes mauled and scattered a 700-man Communist force early today after it daringly attacked a government headquarters at Go Dau within gunshot of a large American troop concentration.

Spotted on Patrol

At the time, Col. a prominent prohibition era character, known as "Mad Dog Coll" was operating a car when spotted by Case, a member of the "D" Troop motorcycle patrol. Coll swerved his truck near New Hartford, N. Y. Trooper Case was thrown from the cycle and received a fractured skull, broken back and other severe injuries which confined him to a hospital for a year.

Paralyzed from the hips down, Trooper Case eventually by sheer determination made an excellent recovery but was unable to return to the troop. In 1932 he received a disability release from the service.

Turning attention to civilian life he became division manager for the Walter Reade Theatre chain in 1942 and served in that capacity until 1950, managing the Kingston, Hudson and Saratoga theatres. In 1950 and for the next eight years he ran the Sunset Drive-In Theatre in

Claim B52s Affecting Red Morale

Cut Foe's Will, Ability to Fight

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — America's B52 bombers in 191 massive raids on South Viet Nam have ripped old Viet Cong jungle hideouts apart and sharply reduced the Communist will and ability to fight.

This conclusion was reached today in official quarters after a detailed study of the raids which started last June and now are almost daily occurrences.

Help Double Defectors

The assaults average 10 B52s from Guam to a mission. Each carries 50 750-pound bombs, a total of 375,000 pounds of steel and explosives for each flight.

When the raids started, about 1,000 Viet Cong were defecting each month to the Saigon government forces. The number now is double that. Many told interrogators the big bombers were making life intolerable for the guerrillas, wrecking their rest havens and hospitals, their hitherto safe tunnels and caves, and destroying precious food caches. Some ground sweeps by troops have substantiated these reports.

Thus the military chalks up a two-fold value for the assaults: The tangible that can be seen and the intangible effect on enemy morale.

The 52s, designed originally to carry nuclear weapons, have been modified for the Vietnamese war and have even been employed in tactical support — the last thing in the minds of the plane's designers.

But Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, commander of the U.S. Marines in Viet Nam, radioed the Strategic Air Command after a tactical mission last December: "We are delighted. The timing was precise. The bombing accurate and the overall effect awe-inspiring to behold. Many thanks. Come again."

Principally, though, the assaults are strategic in nature. Flying at 40,000 feet, the bombers cannot be heard from the ground and the enemy doesn't

TB Group Told Will Back Air Pollution Curbs

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller and two local legislators have assured executives of Ulster County TB and Health Association Inc. they will definitely support legislation currently in preparation for expansion of the Air Pollution Control program and budget.

In reply to a recent letter from Dr. Herbert F. Schwartz, president of the County TB and Health Association, and Dr. Frederic W. Governor Rockefeller expressed his appreciation to Drs. Schwartz and Holcomb.

Everything Canceled — Even Funeral — As Snow Closed in Like White Curtain

EDITOR'S NOTE — AP staffers James R. Polk and Charles E. Kelly were on assignment in northern Wisconsin when trapped by the blizzard buffeting the upper Midwest. Polk's descriptive follows.

By JAMES R. POLK

BAYFIELD, Wis. (AP) — The snow closed in like a white curtain.

Winds whipping off Lake Superior shoved drifts above the tops of stalled cars.

The snow shuttered businesses, closed schools. Travel was throttled. Skiing stopped.

"Everything is canceled, even funerals," said a motel operator, W. C. Burnett.

Snow plows struggled, surrendered. "I made it this far, but I'm scared I'm not going to make it home," said one plow driver.

More than a foot of snow hid this northern Wisconsin village. More was en route.

"It'll take a week to shove out," predicted a coffee sipper at the almost snowbound Community Lunch cafe. The town's only taxi driver answered the phone and said, "I'm snowed in," and hung up. The only wrecker in town was out of service half the day.

Marie Nelson, opening her clothing store to sell a pair of overshoes to a stranded traveler, said "I've never seen a storm like this."

The snow struck Bayfield in the vanguard of a blizzard sweeping across the Plains through Iowa and Minnesota.

Bayfield, a community of 969

persons, is perched on a bluff near the tip of a thumb of land poking into Lake Superior at Wisconsin's northernmost point 400 miles from Milwaukee.

"On a day like this, this place is the end of the world," said Burnett's wife, Virginia.

No injuries, no deaths, no emergencies were reported. But little, if anything, moved.

The storm came too late to aid many of the snow-starved nearby ski resorts. Most closed for the season two weeks ago with income slashed by sunny weather that washed their slopes unusually early this year.

Chuck Koval, an entomologist driving to Bayfield with a fellow scientist from the University of Wisconsin, said, "We took bets from telephone pole to telephone

Plains Area Reels From Killer-Storm

The second blizzard in a month had broken up today, but it left the north central and Plains states buried under massive snows. Schools and roads were closed and at least 21 persons were dead.

Nebraska counted 11 dead from the early spring storm. Minnesota and Iowa each had three dead. South Dakota and Wyoming had two deaths each.

The storm hurled a one-two punch of sleet and snow at most of the area. The ice ripped down power lines and powerful winds stacked the snow into impassable drifts.

Travel Virtually Halted
Travel was virtually halted over the area.

Northerly winds whipped across the storm-stricken region, fanning unseasonably cold air across much of the nation's midsection. Temperatures dropped to the teens from the Dakotas southward to Kansas, with the mercury slipping below zero in northern Minnesota.

Four men were found dead in a car stalled just east of Howells in northeastern Nebraska Wednesday. Police said they had suffocated.

A man driving a snowplow found two brothers dead in a stalled truck near Greeley, Neb. Minneapolis-St. Paul, part of the area which escaped the Dakotas-Montana blizzard three weeks ago, was in the eye of this week's storm. The area lay under 14 inches of snow, with winds whipping drifts to 4 feet.

Much of the Twin Cities business was paralyzed Wednesday. Of the more than one million persons in the two cities, there are about 700,000 workers and most were unable to get to their jobs, according to an unofficial survey of some employers.

See $1 Million Loss
Courts, schools and business places were closed and an estimated $1 million business was lost for the day. Bus lines and taxicabs were unable to operate until late Wednesday night and the Minneapolis-St. Paul Airport was closed from 3:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m.

Norfolk in northeastern Nebraska had 10 inches of snow on top of a 2-inch layer of slush and ice. Many areas of the town of 15,000 were without electricity for more than a day.

Downed power lines also cut electricity in dozens of smaller Nebraska communities.

Cattlemen had heeded weather warnings and their animals had been herded into sheltered areas called "maternity wards." The loss was slight.

First Closing in History
Schools were closed by the hundreds. The University of Minnesota in Minneapolis closed Wednesday for the first time in its history.

Minnesota Gov. Karl F. Roalvaag shared the fate of thousands of motorists — his car got stuck in a driveway.

Is Similar To Ulster Break-ins

Jewelry valued at $4,625, an undetermined amount of savings bonds, stock certificates, four bankbooks, a coin collection, several signed withdrawal slips on four local banks and two cases of whiskey, one Scotch and one Rye, was among the valuables taken from the home of Dr. Abraham Feldman on Ring Top Road, Town of Ulster, some time Wednesday.

Law enforcement agencies indicated that the break-in had many of the characteristics of two other recent burglaries in the Town of Ulster.

Near City Line

The burglars entered the Feldman home located a few feet outside the city line in the Town of Ulster some time between noon and 8 p. m.

Entrance was gained by forcing a double glass sliding door at the rear of the house. Every room in the house was ransacked, bureau drawers overturned, closets searched, clothing scattered about the house.

Entrance was discovered about 8 p. m. when Dr. and Mrs. Feldman returned home. A wall safe in the living room was ripped from its position in the wall and carried away by the burglars. The safe, 18 by 18 inches in size contained jewelry valued at $4,625, an unknown number of Series E Savings Bonds, an unknown amount of stock certificates, a coin collection and four bankbooks together with several signed withdrawal slips from each of the four banks.

Whiskey Taken
From the cellar two cases of whiskey had been taken. The thieves also searched the entire house and Mrs. Feldman reported that between 20 and 25 pocket books, all containing small sums of money, had been ransacked.

The burglary was reported to the Kingston Police Department and later referred to Ulster County Sheriff's Department. Although the premises are located just outside the City of Kingston, Ulster County Investigator Thomas Mayone and Deputy Sheriff Richard Snow were assisted in the investigation by Kingston Police Detectives William Slover and Harold DeGraff.

An investigation into the burglary was being continued today.

Solons Ready To Revise Divorce Law

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The New York Legislature was tent today on a major revision of the state's stringent divorce law coupled with a controversial crackdown on "quickie" out-of-state divorces.

Despite some opposition, approval appeared assured for a bi-partisan plan advanced Wednesday by the Legislature's leaders to relax the 178-year-old divorce statute.

Would Broaden Law
It would broaden the present law, which now permits divorce only on the ground of adultery, by adding such grounds as abandonment, cruelty and sexual deviation.

The bill drafted by the leaders was ticketed for action late in April, after the Legislature returns from a two-week Easter-Passover recess.

Meanwhile, the lawmakers completed action on a bill that would require safety inspections of all motor vehicles, regardless of age. The Senate also approved a system of par-mutual betting on quarter-horse racing and dispatched the legislation to the Assembly.

The divorce bill was drafted by Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia, the Legislature's leading Democrat, in concert with his Republican equivalent, Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, and Republican Sen. John H. Hughes of Syracuse.

Besides adultery, it would permit divorce on these grounds:

Other Grounds
— Abandonment of a spouse for at least two years.

— Cruel and inhuman treatment of such a nature that it endangers the physical or mental health of a spouse and makes it unsafe or improper for a spouse to continue living under the same roof with his or her mate.

— Imprisonment of a spouse for three or more years.

— Sexual deviation, including homosexual conduct.

— Living apart voluntarily for five years, provided the couple first obtains a legal decree of separation.

Under terms of the bill, persons divorced on any of these grounds would have to wait six months before remarrying. The present law requires the guilty party in an adultery proceeding to wait three years, and the innocent party to wait three months.

While thus indicating their

Believes Red Moons Are Spies in Skies

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The Soviet Union has orbited 46 satellites which probably were spy-in-the-sky spacecraft, according to one of the Johnson administration's specialists on Soviet space activities.

"Nobody has suggested anything other than photo reconnaissance" for a particular series of unmanned Cosmos satellites, said Dr. Charles S. Sheldon, senior member of the National Aeronautics and Space Council's professional staff.

"The council is the President's top advisory group on U.S. space policies."

The 46 satellites — launched since 1962, including five this year — "don't fit any pattern" of scientific, navigational or communications-type satellites Sheldon said.

"They fly low — 100 to 200 miles above the earth — and after eight days they disappear from orbit," probably to be recovered so film inside can be removed, the space expert said.

Sheldon, who came to Orlando to speak to local members of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics, said he doubts the Soviet Union intends to place warheads in orbit as a threat to the United States, however, because it could not do so without being discovered.

Concerning the race to the moon, Sheldon predicted the Soviets may soon launch a large unmanned space station and follow up with a smaller space-ship with men inside to rendezvous with it.

Sheldon said Wednesday he believes the Soviets could hoist an orbiting laboratory weighing from 40,000 to 50,000 pounds into

Marriage Remains Block: Canterbury

ROME (AP) — Pope Paul VI and the Archbishop of Canterbury pledged today that their churches would work toward unity. But the archbishop said afterward the Roman Catholic Church's stand on mixed marriage still was a major barrier.

Archbishop Michael Ramsey made his statement on mixed marriage after he and Pope Paul had prayed together in the Pontifical Basilica of St. Paul's and had issued a joint declaration committing their churches to an active program of collaboration to bring them closer together.

That was the climax of the archbishop's historic three-day visit here—the first by an Anglican primate since the Church of England broke away from the Vatican in 1534.

But the bombshell came several hours later at a news conference. There the archbishop said that Pope Paul's recent easing of mixed marriage regulations "does not satisfy the consciences of Anglican Christians and other non-Roman Catholic Christians."

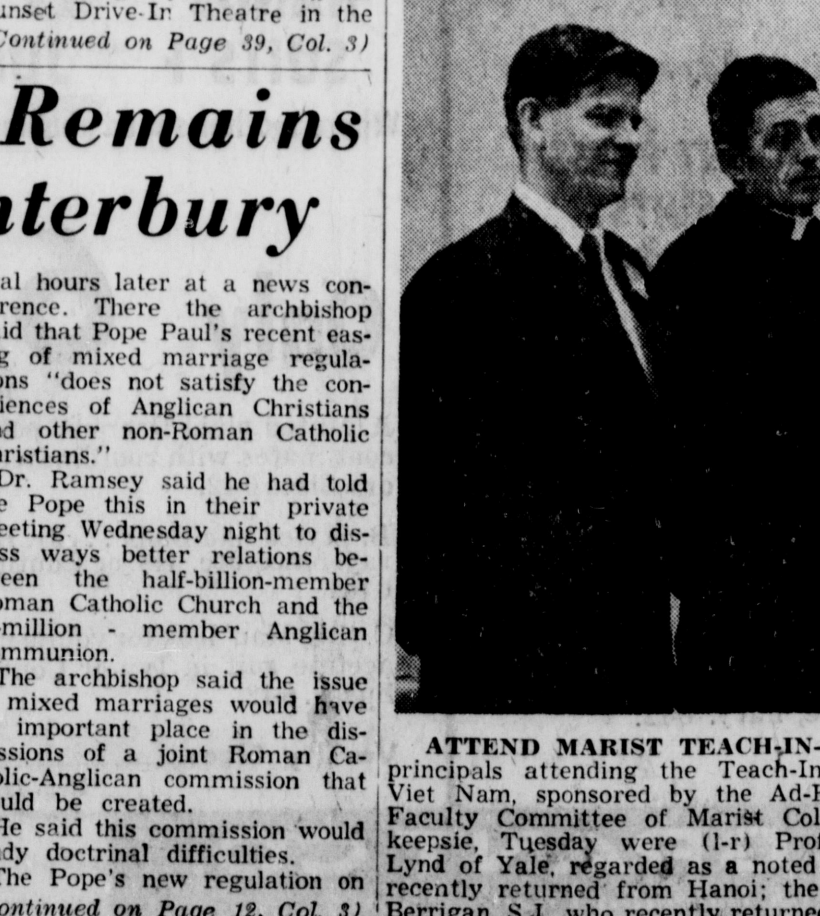

Dr. Ramsey said he had told the Pope this in their private meeting Wednesday night to discuss ways better relations between the half-billion-member Roman Catholic Church and the 45-million-member Anglican Communion.

The archbishop said the issue of mixed marriages would have an important place in the discussions of a joint Roman Catholic-Anglican commission that would be created.

He said this commission would study doctrinal difficulties.

The Pope's new regulation on

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Increased federal taxes may still be a cliffhanger in Washington. But many citizens are pretty sure of higher state and local taxes. And speeded-up federal tax collections will soon be pinching consumer pocketbooks and corporate treasuries. A tighter money market is making borrowing to pay March and April tax installments a costly and sometimes difficult task for many business firms. Banks across the country report the demand for loans is rising despite the increased interest charges. Many banks are pushed to find the funds to lend to old customers, let alone take on new ones.

And interest rates are rising again at both levels — on loans and on savings. The increased charge for borrowing is laid to the rising demand for funds to finance record business and consumer spending. The offer of more generous interest for deposits is due to competition among banks and other financial institutions. They want to lure investment funds into deposit accounts so that these can be used to meet the demand for loans.

If this seems like an endless circle, the turmoil may be increased rather than lessened while the decision on increased federal taxes hangs fire in Washington.

Such an increase would be aimed at cooling down the urge to spend on the part of consumers and business, by leaving each less money to spend after taxes.

But the debate over the danger of inflation — of which the talk of higher federal taxes is a part — could lead many individuals and corporations to think the present is the time to buy goods or expand plants, because prices and costs might rise or because there'd be less money available later on if taxes rise.

The immediate problem, however, is the tighter money market. It is particularly galling at this time, because many federal and state tax bills must be paid this month and next. Higher taxes may trim the

One of the prettiest defenses we have seen for some time was put up by Meyer Schleifer of Los Angeles and Doug Drury of San Francisco in a recent tournament.

Meyer, long recognized as one of our finest players, had a tough problem on the opening lead. Obviously his partner would not hold anything to speak of, but Meyer decided to try to find him with the queen of spades. Hence his opening lead of the six spot.

Doug, the inventor of the well-known Drury convention, was sitting East, holding one of those hopeless hands. At least his partner had opened his one suit. The three was played from dummy and if Doug had blindly played third hand high and stuck in his ten spot the curtain would have rung down on any defensive efforts to beat the hand. However, Doug never plays blindly. He selected the eight of spades as his play. Since Meyer had opened fourth best declarer could only hold one card higher than Doug's eight spot and that one card could not be the ten. Meyer would have led the king if he held king-queen-jack.

South won with the queen and promptly led the deuce of clubs toward dummy. This gave Meyer a good chance to go wrong. Had he ducked that club, South would have gone after diamonds and made nine tricks.

Meyer did not go wrong. He went right up with the ace of clubs and led his king of spades. This wasn't a really hard play for him although we doubt if one player in a hundred would have come up with it. It was obvious to him that Doug, not South, held the ten of spades.

After this series of defensive plays there was no way for South to avoid the loss of three spades and two aces for down one.

A probationary counselor at the Wiltwyck School for Boys at Esopus is currently serving a two-month jail sentence in Montreal, Canada, after pleading guilty to possession of marijuana cigarettes.

He is Warren Eisenberg, 23, who admitted the charge earlier this week at his arraignment in Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal. According to the Associated Press, Eisenberg was struck by a Montreal Transportation Commission bus earlier this month and was taken to the hospital in that Quebec Province city where four marijuana cigarettes were found in his pockets. Sentence was passed immediately upon his plea of guilty at the hospital.

Authorities at the Wiltwyck School for the emotionally disturbed at Esopus told The Freeman that Eisenberg was hired by the school Jan. 10 of this year for a six-month probationary period through June. The spokesman said that the case would be reviewed by the school's medical director, Dr. H. S. Mashikian. The incident occurred while Eisenberg was on his day off, the spokesman said, adding that Eisenberg has since been placed on sick leave.

Judge Jacques Trahan imposed the jail sentence in Montreal, according to the AP.

Reserve Decision On Argument of Illegal Search

A motion to suppress evidence in the case of Howard Dawson, Kingston, was heard before County Judge Raymond J. Mino Wednesday afternoon. Counsel for Dawson alleged that Dawson had been illegally searched by city police when a switch-blade was found on his person after he had been arrested on a disorderly conduct charge.

The indictment charging Dawson with illegal possession of a switch-blade knife is presently on the criminal calendar and has been marked ready for trial by the prosecution.

Seized Knife.—Arguing that the police had unlawfully, illegally and in violation of his constitutional rights seized the knife, Francis Martocci, counsel for Dawson, asked that the court declare the seizure illegal and dismiss the charge.

Assistant District Attorney James H. Fisher called as the prosecution's witness Patrolman Thomas J. Coffey who made the arrest and lodged the original charge of disorderly conduct against Dawson.

Patrolman Coffey testified he had been summoned to the Trailways Bus Terminal on Broadway during the early morning of September 4, 1965, where a fight was reported in progress. Coffey said he and Officer Wells went to the scene and while attempting to break up a crowd, had ordered Dawson to move. He testified Dawson, after being ordered to move several times, went to his car where he made some remarks to the officer and was placed under arrest.

Taken to city hall Dawson was booked on a charge of disorderly conduct and when he was unable to provide bail, was being searched when the switch-blade knife was found in his sweater pocket. Coffey said it was then that the charge of possession of the knife was made.

Not Prosecuted

The disorderly conduct charge was never prosecuted and Dawson's attorney held that since the original charge had never been prosecuted, the search of Dawson without a search warrant was in violation of his constitutional rights and the seizure of the knife was illegal and therefore could not be held as legal evidence. He asked that the evidence be suppressed and that the charge against Dawson be dismissed.

During the examination of Patrolman Coffey by defense counsel, Martocci asked whether Officer Coffey had not himself "provoked" the affair at the bus terminal and on the way to city hall had the car stopped and threatened Dawson. Coffey denied both incidents and said the car was not stopped en route to city hall and he made no threats against Dawson. Judge Mino reserved decision.

Youth Is Accused Of Buying Drink For Teen Boy

Accused of procuring alcoholic beverages for a 14-year-old boy, who reportedly consumed a pint of whiskey and was ill four days, Donald Richard Rydell, 20, of Pancake Hollow Road, Highland, was arrested Wednesday by state troopers.

Sgt. William Cameron said Rydell was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Linn Baker and was ordered held in the county jail in lieu of $500 bail pending grand jury action. According to Sgt. Cameron, Trooper Peter Bebenese saw a 14-year-old Highland boy staggering along that community's Main Street Saturday morning. He learned the boy was "heavily intoxicated," Cameron said. The boy was taken home where he was sick four days.

It was learned through subsequent investigation that Rydell allegedly purchased two pints of whiskey, one of which the boy consumed. Trooper John Crodelle obtained a warrant yesterday from Judge Baker and Rydell was taken into custody.

Sentence Paltz Man 1 1/2-3 Years On Two Charges

A New Paltz man, Raymond S. Banks, 45, indicted on charges of grand larceny, first degree, and forgery, second degree, for falsifying expense accounts while he was employed at IBM, was sentenced to 1 1/2 to 3 years in Clinton prison Wednesday afternoon.

It was alleged Banks, while employed by the company, forged expense vouchers, in the sum of over $21,000. These transactions allegedly covered a three year period and involved 621 separate transactions, according to the prosecution.

When Banks appeared in County Court before County Judge Raymond J. Mino Wednesday afternoon for sentence, a plea for leniency was made by Guido Napolitano, who appeared for Bank's attorney Charles Socoman. Napolitano told the court that Banks had been a respected citizen of his community, a trusted employee of IBM and the incident had been an unfortunate thing. He asked for leniency in imposing sentence.

Assistant District Attorney Robert MacKinnon pointed out that it had been a continuing thing for a period of over three years, involving 621 separate items and there was over $21,000 involved in the forgeries.

Following sentence, bail was exonerated and Banks was turned over the custody of Sheriff William B. Martin for transfer to Clinton Prison at Dannemora.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MARCH 24, 1966

D.C. HOME RULE

March 29 is the fifth anniversary of the ratification of the 23rd Amendment, which gave the District of Columbia the privilege of voting for President and Vice President. The League of Women Voters, which worked tirelessly for the amendment, are now out to finish the job of securing Home Rule for the residents of the District.

Citizens of the District of Columbia are still denied the privilege of voting for local officials who would have the authority to enact and enforce laws relating to purely local affairs and to determine how local tax money should be collected and allocated. At the present time, both legislative and fiscal responsibility for the District rests with Congress. In effect, Washington has a city council of 535 members, none of whom is answerable to its citizens. Purely local District bills must go through all the same legislative steps as national legislation.

Citizens who enjoy local self government should lend their support for Home Rule for their fellow citizens, the residents of the District. Congressmen from all over the United States who will decide the form of government for District residents need to know what their constituents think. Citizens of Washington have no Congressman to whom to appeal. Indications of our concern to our Representatives and Senators is a way in which we can assist them.

There is no doubt that the citizens of the District want self-government. In the primary elections of 1964, Democrats and Republicans voted six to one in favor of Home Rule. When they voted in the November elections, the first time they had cast their ballots in a general election since 1871, Washingtonians led the nation in turning out 90 per cent of the registered electorate.

The Senate and the House last year passed two vastly different bills for Home Rule for the District. In 1960 it took less than five months for the House and Senate to reconcile their differences on the joint resolution which led to the 23rd Amendment. The time now has come for the two houses to finish the job they started and to agree on a workable bill to provide meaningful self-government for the people of Washington, D. C.

WE'RE FLYING HIGH

High school auditoriums have resounded for many a year with valedictorians' forecasts of the coming "Air Age" when the plane would threaten the motor vehicle. Ignoring this, the passenger plane has slogged along as an increasingly important segment of the transportation complex but no more.

There are certain signs that plane travel is experiencing a great leap forward at present. Why, no one is sure. In February, domestic airlines scored a 22.8 increase over business a year ago. For the first months passenger miles were up to 20.6 per cent.

Of course, by this time valedictorians have moved onward to the "Helicopter Age" and the "Rocket Age."

HAPPY ENDING

At the same time as the negative side of the Gemini-8 mission — just what went wrong with the capsule—becomes clearer, its positive accomplishments begin to stand out, too.

No one can feel keener disappointment over the cutting short of the flight than the two astronauts, Neil Armstrong and Maj. David Scott—particularly the latter, who was scheduled to take the first round-the-world space "walk."

But the two men can take pride in the fact that before the trouble developed they performed the first physical coupling of two separately orbiting vehicles, a vital milestone on this nation's path to the moon.

And they are undoubtedly pretty happy—like a couple hundred million other people—that they managed the first emergency landing of a disable capsule. If, as the airplane pilots say, any landing you can walk away from is a good landing, no space flight you come back from safe and sound is a failure.

Americans can feel a new confidence in 'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

ABBA SCHWARTZ, MEET OTTO OTEPKA
Here we go with that "liberal" double standard of morality again.

A man named Abba Schwartz, a 49-year-old lawyer who was brought to Washington by President Kennedy, has been let out by the State Department from his job as head of the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs. The circumstances of the dismissal were painfully similar to the coup in Ghana which ousted the Redeemer, Kwame Nkrumah, while he was making a triumphal tour to Red China. Schwartz had gone to Geneva in Switzerland in connection with his work, which had to do with the easing of U.S. immigration policies and the release of U.S. prisoners in North Vietnam. When he returned to Washington he was told by a newspaperman that his bureau had been abolished for "budgetary reasons."

When President Johnson accepted the resignation of the "liberals" reacted swiftly. Speaking for Americans for Democratic Action, vice chairman Joseph L. Rauh Jr. said "the real victim of Schwartz's dismissal will be the anti-racist, non-discriminatory immigration policies and liberal right-to-travel procedures that he developed and administered in the Kennedy and Johnson Administrations."

Mr. Rauh blamed "the loyal McCarthy underground" in the State Department for this "triumph" over those who have been "administering liberal immigration policies." Senator Robert Kennedy added his voice to those protesting the Schwartz ouster.

People in Washington who are less concerned than Joseph Rauh Jr. over the ideological aspects of the Schwartz case tend to agree with the ADA spokesman that the "budgetary cutback" excuse for abolishing the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs is a phony. But they say that Schwartz was really eased out not for following liberal immigration policies but for failure to get along with Congressmen who control State Department appropriations. There would seem to be some color to this theory, for the State Department, after Schwartz's departure, continued to pursue a policy of liberalizing travel regulations. Scholars, it was announced, would be allowed to go to Red China, Albania, Cuba and North Vietnam in pursuit of knowledge that might be useful to the United States.

Regardless of the rights and wrongs of the dismissal, the fact is that it was carried out in an inexcusably callous way. But the "liberals," in objecting to it, can hardly pose as great supporters of principle. It will be remembered that they were conspicuously silent when Otto Otepa, the Chief Security Evaluator in the State Department, was summarily removed from his job and stuck away in a cubbyhole to write a handbook on "security matters" without the help of a secretary. Otepa had made the mistake of taking his job as security evaluator seriously. He had cooperated with the Internal Security Subcommittee of the U.S. Senate during its investigation of a breakdown of security in the American Embassy in Warsaw, Poland.

According to students of the Otepa case, the most outrageous tactics were used to "get" something on him. His office was "bugged" and his telephone line was tapped. His desk and his office safes were ransacked, and his old friends in the Department were afraid to be seen in his company. If the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee hadn't continued to express its confidence in the loyalty and capability of Otto Otepa, he would surely have been forced out of the State Department under a most damaging cloud.

The Abba Schwartz and the Otto Otepa cases have certain common characteristics. Now, if the "liberals" would only bracket the two cases and call for justice to both Schwartz and Otepa, I'd have a little respect for them. But as long as they remain "liberals" in quotation marks—meaning that they aren't truly liberal—the gang that is calling for a Congressional investigation of the Schwartz ouster will continue to be dishonestly selective in its morality. The "liberals" just can't get away from the double standard.

Infants' Vitamin Not Harmful for Adults

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—If pyridoxine (vitamin B-6) is given only to infants, as you said in a recent column, would its inclusion in multiple vitamin tablets be harmful to adults?

A—This vitamin is found abundantly in most diets. Vitamin B-6 deficiency is occasionally seen in children and causes irritability and convulsions. It is very rare in adults but has been reported as being associated with some forms of anemia. The average adult requires about 1.5 milligrams of this vitamin daily. Since larger amounts are not stored in the body but are promptly eliminated, no harm would result from taking it in excess of your requirement.

Q—What is rutin? What is its value to the body?

A—Rutin or vitamin P is useful in some persons who have a tendency to bruise easily because of increased fragility of their capillaries. One patient who had repeated hemorrhages in the whites of her eyes was greatly benefited by taking this vitamin.

Q—My father, 84, was told by his doctor that he had presenile atherosclerosis. Will this affect his mind?

A—Atherosclerosis and arteriosclerosis are fancy names for hardening of the arteries. If at 84 your father has presenile hardening rather than true senile hardening he is indeed fortunate. While arteriosclerosis is a generalized process that occurs throughout the body, it tends to damage some organs more than others in different victims. When, as often happens, the arteries of the brain are affected, the victim becomes forgetful and may suffer a change of personality, especially if the arteriosclerosis has led to small strokes.

Many drugs have been recommended in the treatment of arteriosclerosis in general. Acetazolamide and injections of procaine have been recommended for arteriosclerosis of the brain but the results cannot be guaranteed. They may delay the progress of the disease but they cannot restore tissues that are already damaged.

Q—I am very nervous. My doctor is giving me Serax. Is it habit-forming? Are there any bad side effects?

A—Oxazepam (Serax) is a new sedative. Although it is said to be especially useful for sobering up after an alcoholic binge, it has many other uses. There have been no reports of habituation. It should not be taken by persons with high blood pressure. Too large a dose may cause panting, jaundice and dizziness.

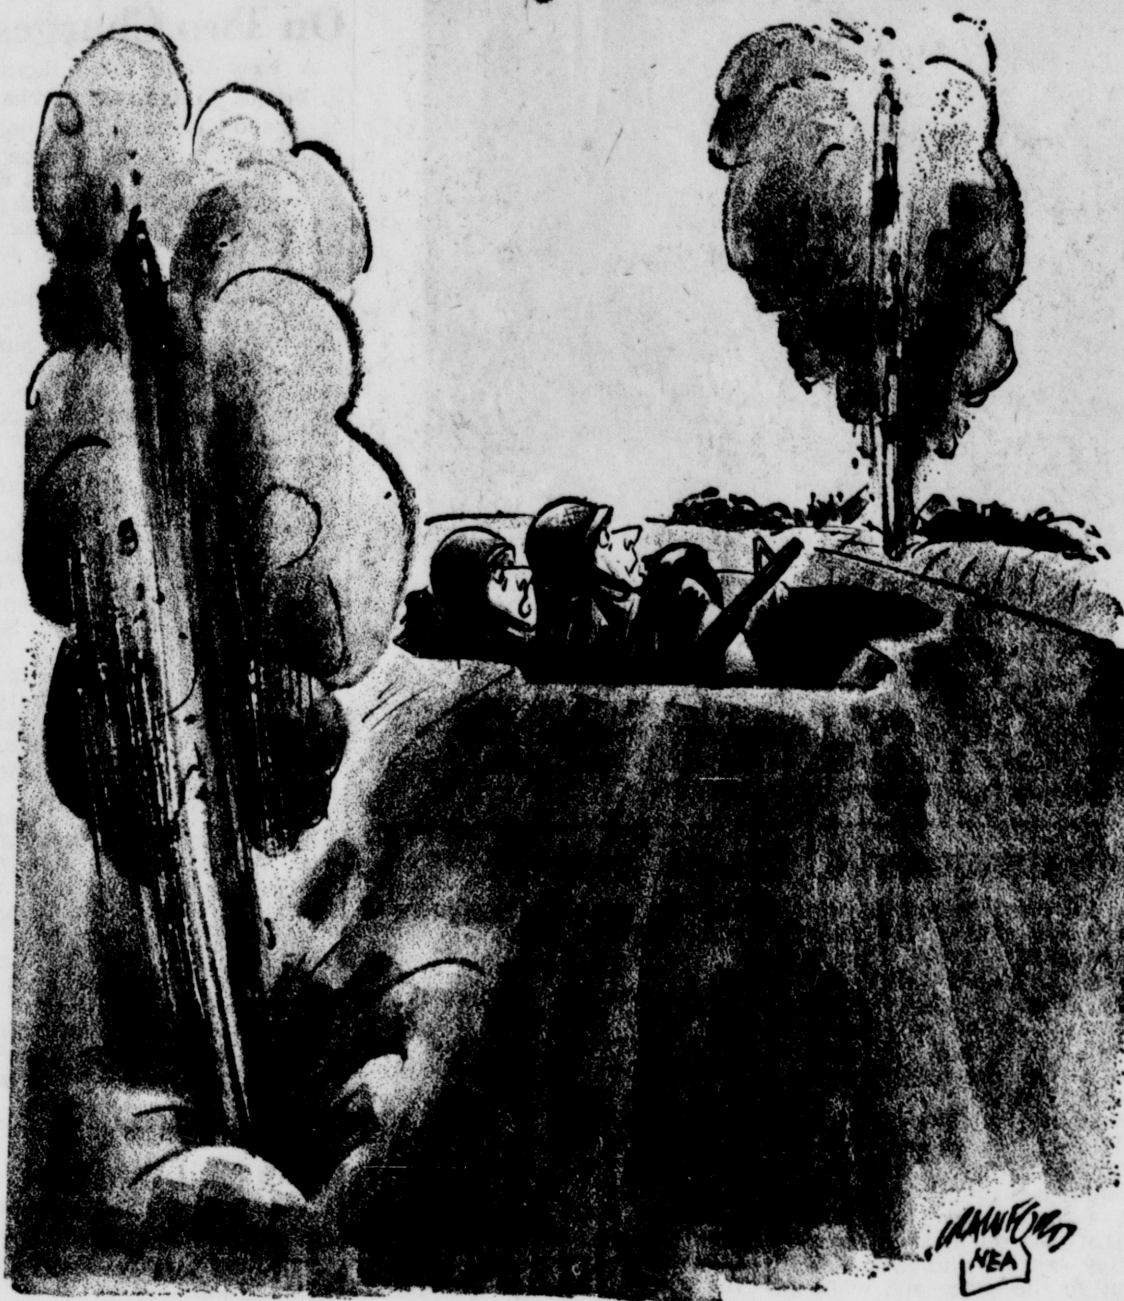

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

the caliber of their astronauts and of the unsung slide-rule boys on the ground who plucked them down with such precision.

The worst could have happened, but it didn't. That it didn't happen this time makes it less likely that it will happen on a subsequent flight.

In a way, this is better proof of the solid strength of our space program, and a better augur of its future success, than a routinely completed Gemini-8 mission would have been.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

Inflamed over the Viet Nam issue, Washington in the unfolding spring of 1966 seems to be losing steadily its residual capacity for weighing dispassionately the facts of any controversy.

Too many people in this town are fired up and overcommitted. Whichever side they are on in the Viet Nam dispute, they seem ready to ascribe to their adversaries a whole catalogue of sins. If it supports their view of the "other side," they eagerly grasp at rumor, assumption, unproved allegation.

The State Department's now celebrated Abba Schwartz affair has to be considered against this backdrop.

In the great rush of printed reaction to his resignation as head of the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs, the matter was painted in glaring black and white as a head-on collision between Schwartz, an accepted liberal on immigration and visa policies, and various reactionaries in the department, on Capitol Hill, and even in the White House.

The evidence for this version, which is taking on the character of Holy Writ, consists largely of bold assertion, plus a handful of inconclusive factual fragments.

LEFT OUT OF ACCOUNT are a considerable assortment of facts and attitudes which do not fit easily into a "get Schwartz for his liberal views" kind of conspiracy. It must be added that they do not help build a clear picture of another sort, either.

For instance, though people are not speaking out, it is an easily checkable fact that a good many persons sympathetic to Schwartz's immigration views regard him as a seriously uncooperative government worker who habitually ignores regular channels, wheedles freely, drops big names like hot pebbles.

Some individuals who make this point flatly declare that the liberal versus conservative aspect of this controversy is wholly false. A few go so far as to call Schwartz not merely a loner but an abrasive type.

When the liberalizing immigration bill of which he claims authorship was pending in Congress, Hill sources say Schwartz had to be warned off personal lobbying which was felt to be hurting prospects of passage.

TAKE A LOOK NOW at William Crockett, deputy undersecretary for administration at State. He is reported to have collaborated with the White House to reorganize Schwartz's job out of existence and thus comfort congressional enemies of his liberal policies.

Foreign Service officers dislike Crockett for alleged "gimmickry" in reorganizing their operations. They say he toadies to Congress.

But in 1964 the concerned Senate committee, under prod of senators disgruntled over Crockett's handling of two controversial department officers (include here the celebrated Otto Otepa), held up for months Crockett's elevation to the higher salary grade of career minister.

A COUPLE OF YEARS EARLIER, Crockett's previous job as assistant secretary for administration was nearly abolished on recommendation of William Orrick, his immediate predecessor as chief.

Curiously, Crockett saved his post by making the same kind of fuss many in the department now believe Schwartz is making. His own example may have been in mind when it was decided to give Schwartz no real advance notice his bureau might vanish.

If that was the idea, department authorities underestimated the vocal power and influence of Schwartz's friends. Almost overnight they built a backfire big enough to menace the liberals' larger target—President Johnson.

The key question is how much truth was swept away in the blaze. This report attempts no definite answer. It simply suggests that no real case of any sort has been proved.

CRIME AND VENGEANCE—PART TWO

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — Eddie Hough was in Holmesburg Prison. He was about to die. In a cell, he was dry-cleaning the stains on his soul and a compassionate priest listened. Then word came that Governor Duff had given him a 60-day reprieve. All it produced was hysterics. A man who doesn't want to die will beg and slobber and abase himself. No reprieve ever saved a man's honor.

Hough felt that he had stood in front of a firing squad and the guns had fired blanks. It made him feel good and it made him feel awful, because in 60 days the time for the chair would fall due again. Then he would sit and count minutes and mumble prayers and wait for those big quiet huskies to clang the door open and say: "Now take it easy, Eddie."

He was still alive in January 1948 when word came that Jim Smith, driver of the getaway car, had been captured in Chicago. Strangely, he was nabbed for the holdup of a bank in New Orleans. Hough was a state witness at Smith's trial. He was still trying to save his skin.

Helen Ingling was a witness too. She was permanently embittered. She testified that it was Smith—and she saw him—who gunned her husband down. Eddie said it was Dave Almeida who had fired the shots from the car. Jim Smith sat back grinning behind his counsel. With one state witness cancelling the other, he couldn't lose.

Smith, who took a pauper's oath, also had a good lawyer. He managed to get ten women and only two men on the jury. Thus, in a sense, it was an emotional trial rather than an assessment of facts. When the jury announced, after 46 hours of deliberation, that it was ready to announce a verdict, the widow of the dead policeman arrived too late to get into court.

The doors were locked. When they were unlocked, she wept and said: "What happened?" A cop stared at her with pity. "He got life," he said. Mrs. Ingling lost her head. She shouted at the jury and yelled at the judge. Her good husband would be standing right here in court if it were not for these killers—so why should they live? She was on a widow's pension with small children and she had been robbed of a decent happy life. All of it was unjust.

In prison, the warden kept Eddie Hough away from Jim Smith. Eddie had been the stool pigeon, and he had to die, but the pal who spun him out of the car into the hands of the police got life. To keep alive, Eddie had to start cringing and crying again. He reminded the authorities that they had no case against Dave Almeida, the man who fired the shots, unless Eddie remained alive.

By 1948, he had been dangled over the electric chair eight times by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. And eight times, Governor Duff had given Eddie small reprieves. The state robbed him of whatever manhood he had and, in effect, refused to let him live.

Housewife Knows Only Too Well War's Effect on Prices

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's hesitancy "to put brakes" on the current economic expansion is understandable, for it isn't easy to know at what point to interject an artificial factor of restraint. But the signs of a fundamental change in the national economy are plainly apparent.

Thus, the $13 billion appropriation for the Viet Nam war is not far different in economic consequences from a reduction of $13 billion of taxes—an increase in purchasing and an expanded demand for goods.

While the amount being spent on Viet Nam is a smaller percentage of the national income than was the case with the Korean War, it doesn't take many billions of added purchasing power to bring shortages of goods and higher prices as well as a scarcity of employees in certain jobs.

Some effects already are noticeable, however, and cannot be ignored. There is a lot of talk about a growing "inflation." The average person isn't sure just what is meant by the word. If it is explained as a steady decline in the buying power of the dollar in the last few years, it is more readily grasped. Still, the housewife already knows what it means in terms of food. Here, for instance, is a comparison of food prices for a year ago and for last week as reported by a group of stores in a chain in the Washington, D. C., area:

	Year Ago	Mar. '66
Sirloin Steak, lb. . .	$1.29	$1.39
Center-Cut Loin Pork Chops, lb.	1.09	1.39
Bacon, lb.65	.95
Ham, lb.59	.89
Chuck Roast, lb. . .	.73	.79
Ground Beef, lb. . .	.53	.59
Butter, lb.73	.78
Milk, 1/2 gal.49	.51
Margarine, 2 lbs. . .	.59	.61
Eggs, lg. Gr. A doz. .	.51	.65
Navy Beans, lb.14	.19
Apples, 8 lbs.69	.89
Oranges, doz.	34 1/2	49

Now, it so happens that the price of bread and flour has stood still, and potatoes have gone down from 95 cents to 69 cents for 10 pounds. But when the statisticians include these three items, they come up with an average that seems to cut down the extent of the impact of an increased cost of living. It's the cost of individual items, however, to the housewife that counts — not the averages.

The same thing is true about statistics of price increases relative to personal income. The prices that people pay in general have risen by 17.2 per cent in ten years, which means that the over-all cost of living has gone up so that it takes $1.17 now to pay for what 100 cents bought ten years ago.

It is contended nevertheless that the wages and incomes of most people have increased during the same ten years. If, for instance, the entire population is divided into the disposable income figure for the nation as a whole, it would appear that there has been an increase of 42 per cent in "per capita" income. But this doesn't solve the problem of individuals earning relatively low incomes. Persons with incomes of $10,000 a year or more can absorb increases in food prices better than a family with less than $5,000 income per year. But they are all lumped together in the statistics about income growth.

In 1964 there were 16.7 million families in the United States with an income below $96.15 per week, or $5,000 a year. This is a smaller number than ten years earlier, but it still reflects the unevenness of individual incomes. Everybody, of course, has to pay the same prices for food irrespective of income.

This is one reason why there is pressure now to get through Congress an increase in the minimum pay per hour required by Federal law. The change is eminently desirable, but it also means that, as the lower-rate employees move up, the workers in other groups with higher wage scales will feel entitled to proportionate increases. Thus, a new wage and price structure is formed, irrespective of the ability of other citizens to pay for what they must buy.

All this merely illustrates the pains of evolution as a war of uncertain future is borne by an economy which has already been stimulated artificially by tax reductions and huge deficits in the Federal Treasury. It is inevitable that a "war prosperity" will not be allowed to drift on indefinitely without some restraints on prices and wages.

Schedule Open House

The 1966 Armed Forces Day "Open House" at Watervliet Arsenal on May 21 will "star" the arsenal itself, with weapons and equipment developed and produced at Watervliet, and activities in arsenal shops and labs highlighting the annual event.

The decision to concentrate the observance on the arsenal's vital role in the national defense establishment was made as the installation continued to receive sizeable work orders which have resulted in six-day work weeks for more than half the installation's 2,944 employees, and in outside recruitment of production workers.

Col. Fred Kornet Jr., commanding officer, noting that Army Forces Day is a "Report to the Nation" stressing an installation's particular contribution to national security, said:

"Our Open House visitors will see tank guns, howitzers, self-propelled weapons, recoilless rifles and other weapons being designed, manufactured and assembled. They'll see complete weapon systems on display. In brief, they'll see how their arsenal neighbors are contributing to the immediate needs of our troops and to the development of new weapons essential to the functioning of a modern Armed Forces Day project of-

Day, 1966 will be an exciting experience for all who visit the arsenal's Open House."

Maj. John G. Watson Jr., Armde Forces Day project officer, says program events already scheduled for the Open House will include a military parade and a drill competition.

As in former years the hours of the Open House will be from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Sheep-Killing Bird

The kea, a parrot of New Zealand, is a killer of sheep. The bird is said to peck at a sheep until it is exhausted and then kill it by digging its beak into the animal's back.

Soviet - China Rift Reaches Stage for Study of Policy

An AP News Analysis
By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The increasingly angry quarrel between Russia and Red China has now reached the stage where each country must consider radical changes in its relations with the West.

The turmoil in the Communist bloc exceeds even that of the Atlantic Alliance where France is pursuing a policy of independent action strikingly similar to the self assertion of Red China against Russia.

Under Pressure
The Johnson administration is under heavy pressure from its China policy critics to find some way to ease tensions and improve relations between Peking and Washington. But any real change in this relationship in the near future is ruled out by the experts, even those among the critics. All recognize that in China's present attitude of bitter political hostility to the outside world, the United States is slated for some years yet to play the role of archvillain.

Indeed the changes resulting from the political turbulence now buffeting Communist and Western powers alike could result in some severe embarrassment to President Johnson and the United States.

One result may be to increase support for a movement certain to arise in the next U.N. General Assembly to make Communist China a member. U.S. officials would not be surprised if a majority of the United Nations' 117 members voted to admit the Red Chinese.

No Policy Change
Johnson administration officials show no intention yet of changing American policy in any important respect toward either China or Russia. It is true, however, that on some issues the administration's differences with its critics are more on timing than on substance. Many recognize that the United States eventually will have to establish relations with Red China and work with it in the United Nations and open up trade as much as possible. But they do not think the time is now and they do not see any basis for bargaining to protect America's interests so long as Peking's antagonism to Washington is unrelieved by any interest in better relations.

The latest blast in the Peking-Moscow dispute came Wednesday with China's publication of an angry note rejecting an invitation issued Feb. 24 to send a delegation to the Communist party congress opening in Moscow next week.

This is the first time the Red Chinese have decided to boycott such a meeting. Their "dear comrade" note to the Soviet party leadership bore out the implication that they are still sticking to the forms of maintaining ties with the mother country of communism. But Washington officials say the forms are about all they have left now.

Look for Realignment
The break having reached this point, U.S. and other Western diplomats are looking at various possibilities for dramatic realignment in the world:

—Soviet leaders Leonid I. Brezhnev and Alexei N. Kosygin may conclude a non-aggression pact or some other kind of friendship agreement with French President Charles de Gaulle when De Gaulle visits Moscow in late June.

—The Soviet chieftains also, or alternatively, may generate unexpected new enthusiasm for a treaty with the United States and Britain to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

—Red China, while pressing Red revolutionary programs in Latin America, Asia and Africa, may very well open new trade channels and perhaps even improve political relations with the countries of Western Europe.

Some of the best informed American officials say there is presently no way of predicting whether any or all of these possibilities will come to pass. What is apparent is that relations among the great powers are in a state of accelerated change, bringing in a period which holds a grave risk as well as hopes for improvement.

Signs for Met

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm so excited I'm about to bust," says Kitty Carlisle who has been signed to sing at the Metropolitan Opera next season.

Singing at the Met has long been a dream for Miss Carlisle, a veteran of musical comedy, the movies, television and some opera roles.

She told Wednesday how Rudolf Bing, general manager of the opera, had given her an audition and an O.K. for the role of Prince Orlofsky in Johann Strauss' "Die Fledermaus." The role traditionally is sung by a woman. The opera will have six performances during next season, the Met's first in its new home in Lincoln Center.

Miss Carlisle, widow of playwright Moss Hart, said she has no plans to pursue an opera career.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Directors of Rochester Gas & Electric Corp. approved Wednesday a regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents per share of common stock.

Given Temporary N.Y. Assignment By Phone Firm

G. ALAN JOHNSON

G. Alan Johnson of Hurley, manager of the New York Telephone Co., Kingston, has been assigned temporarily for a 10-week period as an evaluator at the company's female assessment center in New York City, it was learned today by The Freeman.

Miss Bowers Assigned

A spokesman for the company confirmed the report that Miss Barbara J. Bowers of the Albany office, assumed the managerial duties of Johnson here today. She was assigned to the Albany Eastern Area commercial staff of the company prior to coming here as acting manager.

At the assessment center in New York City, potential employees are screened and interviewed and evaluated for various positions.

Upon completion of the 10-week temporary assignment on the special project in New York City, Johnson will return to the Eastern area, but it is not definite whether he will return to Kingston, it was learned.

Here Since 1963

Johnson succeeded James J. Kohut as local manager of the telephone company in October, 1963, when Kohut was assigned as sales manager for the Kingston District, the position previously held by Johnson.

A native of Syracuse, Johnson joined the Telephone Company in 1953 after serving in the armed forces. He is a 1950 graduate of Syracuse University and previously held positions with the Telephone Company in Poughkeepsie and Saratoga Springs.

Johnson is married to the former Patricia Stasink of Syracuse. He directed the Neighborhood Division for the 1965 Ulster County Community Chest Campaign. He has served as a member of the Red Cross Board of Directors, and served on the executive board of Boy Scouts. He is a member of the Kiwanis Club and St. John's Church in West Hurley.

Strike Threat Is Aired by Miners, Airline Workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unions which represent 100,000 soft coal miners and 34,000 airline mechanics are threatening to strike in support of demands for pay increases which exceed the administration's wage guidelines.

Neither threatened walkout is imminent, however.

At a New York meeting Wednesday, the National Policy Committee of the Independent United Mine Workers of America gave union officers the right to call a strike to support efforts to gain a 4 per cent pay raise for the 100,000 soft coal workers in 25 states.

Must Give Intentions

But the union would first have to give a 60-day notice of intention to terminate the present contract, and there was no indication when such a step might be taken.

At about the same time, the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists issued a statement here that it would strike five airlines — Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United — unless a deadline in negotiations is broken by April 23.

The machinists seek a 15 per cent pay hike.

President Johnson has called repeatedly on unions to hold wage demands within 3.2 per cent on the theory that such an increase would be offset by productivity advances and therefore would not be inflationary.

A strike by the mine workers would be the first major one in the industry in 17 years.

The policy committee took just 25 minutes to authorize the union's leadership to call a strike. Union officials planned to return here today to continue negotiations with representatives of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

The association represents 60 per cent of the industry and normally sets wage patterns for other mine owners.

One of Most Automated

In seeking a 4 per cent increase over the current daily pay rate of $26.25, the mine workers' union contends the soft coal industry is one of the most automated in the nation with an average annual increase in productivity of about 5 per cent since 1964.

The machinists union has refused to submit the airlines dispute to arbitration by the National Mediation Board.

Chairman Howard Gamser of the mediation board said the unions will be legally free to strike even before April 23, but that the board hopes to review the situation with both sides before then.

A further 60-day delay could be imposed by the government by creation of a presidential emergency board to consider the dispute, but Gamser said such a step was not being considered at this time.

Talks started last October. The present pay rate for line mechanics is $3.52 per hour. Besides pay boosts, the union seeks more vacation time, an eighth paid holiday, double pay for overtime and improved health, welfare and pension benefits.

Counter-offers by the airlines have been "hardly worthy of consideration as sincere counter-proposals," IAM Vice President Joseph W. Ramsey said.

Library Friends Organize Unit in Town of Ulster

Recently a group of residents interested in the welfare of the Town of Ulster Library met upon the invitation of Barbara Bondar, library board member, to form a friends of the library group.

Edward Crosby, board president, welcomed those attending, and introduced Albrecht Heyer, public relations coordinator of Mid-Hudson Libraries, who spoke of the functions of such a group. Three goals would be to aid in fund raising, to bring the library closer to the community, and to aid in the annual membership drive. He spoke of the experiences of other such groups that benefit libraries, and the amount of good they had accomplished. This helps to take some of the workload off library board members, who in the past have been in charge of all activities of the library, he said.

After discussion, the group decided to call themselves the Public Relations Committee of the Town of Ulster Library Association. Officers selected were Edward Langton, chairman, and Mrs. Roger Crapser, secretary. A meeting night of the third Monday of the month was acceptable to all. Next meeting will be April 18, at a place to be designated, as the library is open that evening.

Also attending this initial meeting were Mrs. Francis Short, who acted as temporary secretary; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Benjamin, Mrs. Maurice Corrigan, Roger Crapser, Mrs. John Mulvin, Mrs. Richard Nace, Arthur Schiff, Mrs. Stanley Van Kleeck, Mrs. Barbara Bondar, Mrs. Myrtle Woodvine, and Mrs. O. L. Sande.

City Worker Killed

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Casimer Jablonski, about 33, a city worker was killed today when, police said, he slipped on snow and was crushed under a rear wheel of a garbage truck.

He lived at 18 Stanislaus St. The accident occurred on the city's east side.

Yank on Cong's Most Wanted List Comes Home Alive

LINDEN, N.J. (AP) — The Viet Cong wanted "Zak the FAC" dead or alive. His wife wanted him alive.

She won. Zak — Air Force Capt. Alexander Zakreski—is home today with more medals than he can wear on one uniform. As a forward air controller, or FAC, his job in Viet Nam was to pilot a light plane over enemy positions and direct air strikes.

He was so good at it that before he returned home, the Viet Cong had offered the equivalent of $500 for his capture — dead or alive.

On one mission recently, north of Than Thiet, 110 Viet Cong were killed by pilots under his direction.

He returned here Wednesday for a month with his wife, Paulette, and their children, Alexander Jr., 17 months, and Carl Ann, 3. Young Alex was six months old when his father left for Viet Nam.

Late in April, Zakreski, 25, reports to Hahn Air Force Base in Germany to fly fighter-interceptor jets. He was not due home until April 1, but Tuesday he surprised his wife with a call from San Francisco.

At the home of his in-laws, where Mrs. Zakreski and the children have been staying, the pilot said that despite his desire to get back, he left with mixed emotions. "I felt I could have been more productive there."

He described the South Vietnamese as people suffering for something they want in the future.

He said: "These people just want to be able to determine their own lives, be able to plow their lands without someone extorting taxes from them."

Mrs. Zakreski said: "My husband doesn't consider himself a hero. His idea is simply doing what you have to do."

Zakreski, a chemical engineer, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross three times and the Air Medal 11 times. He has qualified for nine more Air Medals. He has been nominated for the Silver Star, the Bronze Star for valor and two more Distinguished Flying Crosses.

Zakreski brought home six Vietnamese medals, including two Gallantry Crosses with silver star.

Jailed on Check Charge

Richard Allen Simpson, 21, of Potter Hill Road, Lake Katrine, was sentenced to 1½ years in the county jail Wednesday, after he pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly, Town of Ulster, to charges of issuing fraudulent checks. State Police Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes said Simpson was accused of issuing and passing several checks at business places in the area. Judge Reilly sentenced the defendant to 180 days in jail on each of three charges. The arrest was made by BCI Investigator Richard Ryan.

Fish Supporters In County Hold Strategy Session

A meeting of a key group of Ulster County backers of Hamilton Fish Jr. for the Republican nomination for the 28th Congress-sional District, held their first strategy meeting at the Hotel Kirkland Wednesday night. The enthusiastic backers of the 39 year old Dutchess County candidate, led by Edward T. Feeney, included some of the top vote getters in Kingston and surrounding towns.

"We are in this fight to win," Fish said in addressing the group, "and with backers and workers such as we have here tonight, I am convinced we are going to do just that."

Fish, who has the solid backing of the Dutchess County organization, has been waging a high level, town by town, door to door campaign in Ulster County during the past two weeks.

"No candidate can win by himself," Fish said. "It is workers and supporters such as you who make a successful campaign organization."

Other meetings have been planned with other leaders in Ulster County who have expressed an interest in supporting Fish, according to Feeney.

Present at the Kirkland dinner meeting were Edward T. Feeney, attorney, 12th Ward; William Merrill Jr., businessman, 9th Ward; Stanley J. Petro Sr., former supervisor, 3rd Ward; Paul G. Mercier Sr., Superintendent of Highways, Esopus; Robert F. Phinney, supervisor, 11th Ward; Robert S. Diamond, immediate president, Town of Marletown Republican Club; Jason A. Goumas, former candidate for Alderman, 9th Ward; Joseph Russo, businessman, Milton, Town of Marlborough; Frank H. Reis, businessman, 12th Ward, and John Machone, Alderman, 12th Ward.

In addition to these, a number of influential backers from other towns in Ulster County also attended the meeting.

The broad ranging discussion, led by Feeney and Fish covered a number of important campaign issues.

Also present was John D. Barry, president of John Barry Associates, Inc., who is acting as general campaign coordinator for the Hamilton Fish campaign throughout the five county 28th District.

Ribbons Placed On Troop's Flag

Boy Scouts of Troop 10, sponsored by Ulster Hose Co. No. 5, Town of Ulster, held a celebration at the troop meeting Wednesday, for their victory at the Ontario Trail District Scouting Spectacular held Saturday at the State Armory.

A special ceremony was conducted by Scoutmaster Carlton L. Deyo and other troop leaders, at which the 1966 grand champion red white and blue ribbon and other ribbons won by the unit were placed on the troop flag. At the Scouting exposition, the troop participated in an electricity merit badge booth, consisting of boy-made motors, an electric sign and various electrical items constructed by the boys.

The group also competed with other units in Scout skill events.

The five patrols of the troop made plans for a troopwide overnight camp during the weekend of April 2.

Movies were shown of the 1964 National Jamboree held at Valley Forge, Pa.

The meeting was closed with refreshments donated by the parents.

Assessors Slate Dinner April 13

The March meeting of the Ulster County Assessors' Association was held in the Supervisors' Room of the Ulster County Office Building.

A report was given by Joseph Quick and Ferdinand Fiedler on their visit to Putnam County where they examined the newly adopted tax map system for that county.

At the next meeting a resolution will be offered to the Ulster County Board of Supervisors favoring immediate action to provide a tax map; the matter of maintaining facilities for Ulster County. A committee consisting of Joseph Quick, Elfred Smith and Sidney Sinick was appointed to meet with members of the Board of Supervisors to discuss this matter.

Sinick and Sam Waruch, the committee in charge of the second annual dinner of the Association, have announced the event will be held at Wenig's Restaurant, Napanoch, April 13 at 7 p. m. Reservations may be sent to Waruch of Kerhonkson, or Sinick of Ellenville.

The next regular meeting of the Association will be held in the Supervisors' Room in the County Office Building April 27. This date has been advanced from May for various reasons.

Jakarta Seeks New Cabinet

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesia's new leaders met today without reaching agreement on a new anti-Communist Cabinet to cope with the nation's political and economic chaos.

The meeting brought Sukarno together with a presidium of key civilian and military representatives who have been trying to forge a Cabinet for four days. Another meeting was scheduled later today, sources said.

There was concern in some quarters that unless the presidium reached a decision on a new Cabinet soon, the students who toppled Sukarno's 100-man Cabinet would again stage street demonstrations.

Meanwhile, Jakarta remained calm and the military shortened the nightly curfew by 3 1/2 hours. While the presidium deliberated, influential political parties expressed their support for Suharto.

Islamic members of the House of Representatives called on Suharto to restore the House to "its real authority and function" instead of using it as a rubber stamp as Sukarno did for years.

Sukarno appeared at a Pakistani reception Wednesday night and declared: "I am still president of Indonesia. I am still supreme commander of the armed forces. I am still leader of the Indonesian revolution."

Sukarno appeared in good humor and wore a field marshal's uniform. He spoke in English.

"Broadly they say I have been toppled," he said. "Broadly they say I am a sick man, nearly dying. Broadly they say I nearly committed suicide. Broadly they say I have asked the Manilla government for asylum."

"I am not a sick man. I am quite healthy. I have not been ousted. I have not asked the Philippines for asylum. I never tried to commit suicide because I love life."

Sukarno stayed for two hours. He shook hands and joked with newsmen and crisscrossed the hotel ballroom to speak with dozens of guests.

Sukarno retained the title of president after he handed much of his power over to the military under Lt. Gen. Suharto, on March 11. Suharto has respected Sukarno's constitutional position and officially maintains that the army is acting under Sukarno's orders.

Sukarno's appearance at the reception underlined both his desire to retain his position and the military's wish to emphasize the legality of the change in the power structure.

Red Junk Explodes

MACAO (AP)—A cargo junk from Communist China smashed into a breakwater here Wednesday night and exploded. Thirteen crewmen died in the fire that followed.

One of two known survivors, Kwok Sin-king, 30, said the junk left Canton Tuesday for Hainan Island with a cargo of sulphite. Other sources said sulphite was not normally considered explosive and doubted it would have exploded with such force. The explosion shook Macao's waterfront area.

Communist China reportedly has been using seagoing junks to carry oil, jet fuel, and war supplies to Red military installations on Hainan Island. Across the Gulf of Tonkin from North Vietnam.

Diplomats Go High

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Home Minister Daniel Arap Moi says foreign diplomats spent more than 400,000 pounds ($112 million) in attempts to subvert the Kenya government in the 19 months between June 1, 1964 and last Dec. 31.

Speaking Wednesday at a political rally at Nakuru, 100 miles north of Nairobi, Moi mentioned no country by name. But in the last two weeks 11 Communist bloc diplomats and journalists have been expelled from Kenya.

Bandits Get $46,000

LONDON (AP) — Two bandits disguised as security guards hijacked an armored car in the center of London today and got away with about 20,000 pounds ($46,000) in cash.

The two men transferred the loot to a waiting auto and drove away after locking a guard in the back of the armored car.

less rifle and considerable ammunition. Government casualties were termed light.

U.S. Marines reported finding 65 more bodies in fresh graves around Quang Ngai, 330 miles northeast of Saigon, bringing the enemy toll in a seek and destroy operation dubbed Texas 416 for the week. Many fell in air attacks.

The Communists came at the Go Dau headquarters from three directions, striking first from an old graveyard.

No Yanks Involved

The fighting raged a mile from armored and aviation units of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, but no American troops were involved.

The Vietnamese troops said they suffered only light casualties. They displayed the bodies of 32 of their victims this morning along Route 13 for all to see.

A government spokesman said two Communists, one carrying North Vietnamese money, 20 Chinese-made submachine guns and six K40 antitank weapons were captured.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Tour Planetarium

NEW PALTZ — New Palitz Central School students from general biology and general science classes visited the planetarium at New Palitz State University College in two shifts recently. Both groups saw the program A Trip Into Outer Space.

The show centered on the locations of the stars and planets, showing the orbital pattern of each in relation to the others. The most important constellations pointed out where the Big Dipper, the Seven Sisters, the Pleiades, Orion and the Hunter and Taurus the Bull as well as such individual stars as Pollux, Castor and Betelgeuse.

The program was conducted by Dr. John R. Kirk, who explained in detail the many interesting and mysterious facets of modern astronomy.

The New Palitz Planetarium.

marriage lifted the onus of excommunication from Roman Catholics married outside the Church. It also eliminated the obligation of non-Catholic partners in mixed marriages to make a signed promise that the children would be raised as Catholics. But it insisted that the children must be raised as Catholics.

The archbishop said that a careful reading of the new regulation "makes it clear it has not been issued as final."

He made it plain that in the joint discussions that lie ahead Anglicans would press for even greater liberalization of the rule.

After the 3rd grad 133. The joint declaration was read in Latin by Bishop Jan Willebrands, secretary of the Vatican's Christian Unity Secretariat, and in English by Dr. Ralph Dean, executive delegate of the Anglican Communion.

The declaration said the Pope and Dr. Ramsey "intend to inaugurate between the Roman Catholic Church and the Anglican Communion a serious dialogue which may lead to that unity in truth for which Christ prayed."

It was greeted by applause from an audience of 3,000 in the large basilica where Pope John XXIII announced in 1959 that he was calling the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

The Pope and Dr. Ramsey had entered the crowded basilica side by side and walked together down the center aisle. They sat side by side in identical gilt and brocade armchairs, as they had at their first meeting Wednesday in the Sistine Chapel.

Both read portions of a common service of worship prepared for the occasion. The Pope read his words in Latin and the archbishop in English.

After the reading of the joint declaration, the Pope and Dr. Ramsey embraced in a symbolic kiss of peace, as they did twice Wednesday at the Vatican. Another wave of applause rose from the congregation.

The joint declaration said the meeting of the Pope and the archbishop "marks a new stage in the development of fraternal relations, based upon Christian charity, and of sincere efforts to remove the causes of conflict and to re-establish unity."

Commission May Be Start. The declaration did not specify how closer contacts would be accomplished. It was expected, however, that a first step would be creation of a Roman-Anglican commission to study in detail issues dividing the churches.

The declaration said the dialogue "should include not only theological matters such as Scripture, tradition and liturgy, but also matters of practical difficulties felt on either side."

Among the barriers between the half-billion-member Catholic Church and the 45-million-member Anglican Communion are disagreements over papal infallibility, doctrines concerning the Virgin Mary, and questions of mixed marriage and birth control.

The declaration did not minimize the great obstacles on the road to unity, but the two leaders vowed to work to end the differences of the past.

Ban Ring in Ear

DETROIT (AP)—"I'm a pork chop-and-mashed potatoes, middle-class American who grew up in northwest Detroit and in my heart I always wanted to be a sissy."

That's the way teacher Francis P. Gazley, 47, explained things when he showed up for class at Redford High School with a ring the size of a wedding band hanging from one ear.

Principal Robert Baumgartner didn't buy the reason, though, and told Gazley not to wear the ring in the building.

Gazley complied. He left the ring at home and showed up Wednesday wearing a tiny gold plug to keep his newly pierced ear open "for nights and weekends."

Notes Federal Action

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Vermont Gov. Philip H. Hoff says that "the fresh approaches" to the problems of poverty, medical care and education "have come from federal sources," not state governments.

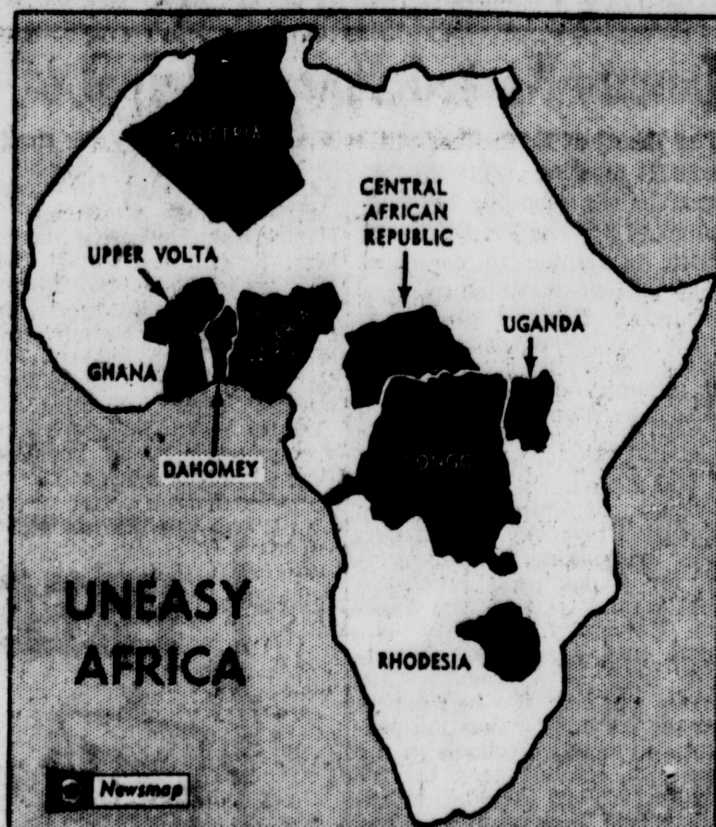

Hoff added Wednesday that "planners must learn about politics and politicians must learn about planning" if progress is to be made in areas of public concern.

Meanwhile, Gov. Rockefeller urged 50 state and federal officials at the Conference on State Planning at Cornell University to begin "long - range planning for state projects, in terms of what is needed most."

Hoff, a Democrat, was introduced by Cornell President James Perkins, who noted that the school's annual operating budget was about $40 million higher than Vermont's.

Once known as the Dark Continent, Africa today might better be called the Troubled Continent. Upheaval, actual or potential, is a fact of political life for most African states. Within less than a year, eight regimes have been ousted or shaken up. Military men seized power in Algeria, the Congo (Leopoldville), Nigeria, Upper Volta, Dahomey, Central African Republic and, most recently, Ghana. In Uganda, Premier Dr. Milton Obote assumed virtual dictatorial powers, allegedly to head off a threatened coup; and Rhodesia, with its defiant white minority government, continues to trouble Africa and the world.

198 Wishful Thinkers, Urge New Policy Toward Red China

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — A number of people — 198 of them — have signed a batch of proposals urging a new policy toward Red China. It looks like a bundle of wishful thinking, with some realities shoved under the rug.

A small group of scholars on China drew up the proposals which were circulated by the Association for Asian Studies among its 2,700 members. The 198 who signed included citizens, high school teachers, college professors.

Admittance Proposed

One proposal: The United States should stop preventing Red China's admittance to the United Nations on the grounds that peace in Asia would be easier to obtain with the Communist Chinese inside the world organization.

The United States has been able to block U.N. membership for Red China since 1950. But the Red Chinese have insisted that, if they go in, Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese government on Formosa must be thrown out.

But this government has a mutual defense treaty with Chiang's government, which is an American ally and has been backed and protected by the United States ever since the Korean War.

But while the 198 signers want Red China in the United Nations, and there is no indication the Red Chinese have changed their mind about wanting Chiang's China out, the signers say the United States must maintain its relations with Chiang. This in effect means two Chinas.

Idea Unacceptable

But the Red Chinese insist there is only one China and that Formosa and the Chinese there belong to mainland China. They're bent on taking it when they can. And Chiang won't accept the idea of two Chinas, either.

The 198 signers suggest that recognition of Red China as a legitimate government — a recognition refused by this country ever since the Communists took control of the mainland in 1949 — "offers a means of conducting business and settling disputes."

But only last Sunday, Dean Rusk, secretary of state, listed a number of unsuccessful attempts to establish some worthwhile contact with Red China.

He said the Red Chinese answer to all such efforts, made during the regular meetings between the U.S. and Chinese diplomats at Warsaw, was this: Letting them have Formosa was a first condition.

The signers had another suggestion. Before the United States would agree to withdraw its forces from Asia, it would want an understanding that the Red Chinese would not give military aid to Communist subversive groups elsewhere.

Asks Encirclement

But last Sept. 2 Peking appealed to revolutionary forces in Asia, Africa and Latin America to encircle the United States.

The 198 signers proposed: "What would be desirable is an agreement to the effect that China would not supply arms to revolutionary groups and the United States would not use military force to thwart every attempt to install a Communist government into office."

But, in view of Peking's appeal to revolutionists everywhere to encircle the United States, what is this country supposed to do when it sees a Communist attempt at a takeover, particularly in this hemisphere?

Sit idly by and let itself be encircled?

The signers proposed that the United States end its trade embargo on Red China and permit the importation and exportation of nonstrategic materials. But they admitted 10 West European countries have sent trade missions to Red China and not much has come of it.

Monsieur Jean Bauchet is an art collector and a connoisseur of the automobiles. He understands that quiet in a car means quality. After driving a '66 Ford XL, he said, "They would not have to make Paris streets so smooth if all cars rode like this."

Who says a '66 Ford rides quieter than Jean Bauchet's $12,000 Facel Vega?

Jean Bauchet!

Ford's Quiet Man, who recently toured Europe demonstrating the exceptional quality of the '66 Ford to owners of some of the world's most expensive cars, here discusses a '66 Ford XL with Monsieur Bauchet outside of Monsieur Bauchet's Paris home.

"Such smoothness, such silence," says Jean Bauchet. "Your Ford is quieter, M'sieu."

Ford's quiet quality is the result of advanced engineering features like a revolutionary new frame that "tunes out" road vibrations . . . the strongest body ever on a Ford. But the quiet ride is just one of many reasons why you're ahead in a Ford all the way.

Only Ford in its class offers a Stereo-Sonic Tape Player option that brings you over an hour of uninterrupted music of your choice, on each self-threading, snap-in tape cartridge. Magic Doorgate for wagons (standard equipment) that opens out like a door and down like a tailgate, depending on whether you are loading kids or cargo. Silent-Flo Ventilation (on 4-door hardtops) that brings in fresh air and gets rid of smoke and stale air with the windows closed. Even Ford's keys are special—they're double-edged so they fit in locks either side up. Visit your Ford Dealer and test-drive a '66 from Ford. See how many ways Ford can put you ahead in '66.

You're ahead in a FORD all the way!

Public Hearing Set by Board For School Transportation

Saugerties Central Schools Board of Education has authorized architect Albert E. Milliken to engage an electrical contractor to correct and complete contracts for the Morse School and the Junior Senior High School addition. Incomplete electrical work is currently preventing complete use of the kitchen at these schools. Building Committee Chairman Henry Breitenbach reported that the operation of the water pumps at the Morse School is still not satisfactory and that the architect and engineers are working on the problem. Work on the ground surrounding both schools will be commenced as soon as soil condition permits.

Reporting for the Transportation Committee, Edwin Olson said bids for the 1966-67 transportation routes would be advertised this week, with the bid openings scheduled for March 31. In order that the people may be completely informed concerning the various issues involved, the committee recommended and the board approved, holding a public hearing on Wednesday, April 13, at the high school auditorium at 7:30 p. m.

The staff is preparing maps which will show the transportation routes for the next school year and the effect of the various mileage limitations which have been discussed. The meeting has purposely been set for a date after bid openings so that firm figures on costs will be available. Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dexter O. Arnold said, "As we anticipate resolutions changing the mileage limitations will be offered by interested groups at the annual meeting in May, and as it is essential that the voters be presented all the facts, we believe that a public hearing is the best solution. Because of lack of rooms for elementary pupils, we are forced to fill every room in the District up to capacity, which in turn necessitates increasing transportation and complicated routings. At the public hearing we will do our best to show those present the schools to which pupils from the various areas will be transported and make clear which areas will be affected by the proposed mileage limits of one mile, seven-tenths, and one-half mile. Maps will be projected on a large screen and transportation costs will be presented."

Upon recommendation of the Site Committee, Edwin Olson, chairman, the Board voted to take a six-month option with a six-month renewal clause, on 12 acres of land adjacent to the Glasco School.

Breitenbach, speaking for the Board Salary Committee, reported on a meeting with the Salary Committee of the Saugerties Teachers Association and recommended revisions in the administrative schedule, the teachers' schedule, office personnel schedule, custodial and maintenance schedule, and teacher aide wage scale, to be effective in the 1966-67 school year.

Legislative Committee Chairman Arthur Simmons reported on current legislation.

In other action taken, tax corrections were approved; the business manager was authorized to participate with other school districts in cooperative bidding on bread; the school calendar for 1966-67 was adopted.

The Board of Education will meet Tuesday, March 29, to work on the 1966-67 budget now in preparation.

Melodaires Join Others in Lions Musical Evening

Saugerties Lions Club has completed preparations for its "Evening for Songs" program at Saugerties High School Auditorium Saturday at 8:15 p. m. Three popular and well-known singing groups will appear, including the Kings Men, the Kingston Women's Barbershop Chorus and the Melodaires.

"These fine singing groups," said Lion president William D. Brimmer, "are participating in the Lions Club fund-raising program for the benefit of the Saugerties Lions Scholarship merit award, and the annual underprivileged children's Christmas party."

The Melodaires are a group of Saugerties women consisting of Mary Winnie, Elaine Gunderud, Barbara Genthner, Beverly Dargan, Barbara Goetz and Lois Buchan, accompanied by Barbara Sparks. The group originated four years ago, and report that their founder and the "man behind the scene" was the popular singer, Don Fellows. Fellows has from time-to-time featured the Melodaires in connection with the Catskill Glee Club. The Melodaires made a guest appearance at the New York World's Fair in 1964, and have appeared at many clubs and benefits throughout the Hudson Valley area. They are known primarily for their barbershop harmony, but their versatility is indicated through the use of three-part harmony. Their presentation in Saugerties Saturday will be primarily in the realm of barbershop harmony. The program is under the general chairmanship of Stuart Buchan, with the entire club serving as a committee in the processing of tickets, sales, and staffing the high school auditorium Saturday evening. Joseph Bosco will serve as general master of ceremonies following a statement of welcome by Brimmer. Each of the singing groups have their own varied and unique presentation which will add up to a most enjoyable evening, says Brimmer.

Campbell also said April will be the month set aside by the Lions Club for the renovation of the Eye Bank Program, which will consist of the issuance of new eye pledge cards to replace those used several years ago and to advise the public of new changes in the program. "Information on these matters will be distributed and made available to the public shortly," said Campbell.

The club has discussed the possibility of entering a float in the July 4 parade with decision to be made by the Board of Directors.

James Dargan was welcomed back from his Florida vacation at this week's meeting and he presented some valuable information on Lions Clubs activities in the South. President Brimmer reported the March 28 meeting will consist of three films to be presented by the American Cancer Society and a discussion, at which time Dr. Kurken V. Kirk of Kingston will be present to answer questions in connection with the films and the work of the American Cancer Society.

Troop 130 Plans Long Bike Hike

Boy Scouts of Troop 130, Saugerties, have begun training for a 100-mile hike.

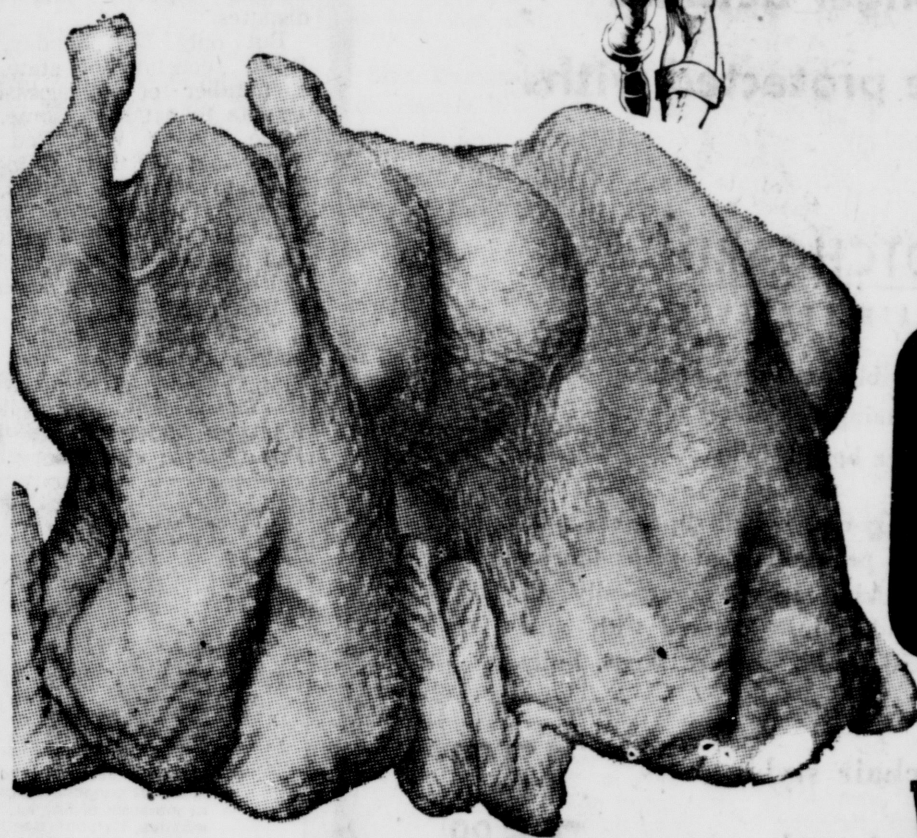

Last Sunday, a group of eight boys and their leaders cycled over a 25 mile route through Woodstock and back. After more practice sessions, they plan to cycle from Bennington, Vt., to Saugerties on the weekend of May 22.

The bike hike is part of a continuing physical fitness program for the troop. Scouts of Troop 130 have a long tradition of outdoor adventure to challenge their physical fitness and endurance. Among other activities, they have taken a long trek on the Appalachian Trail, a 100 mile bike hike, a 100-mile canoe trip and a 100 mile hike from New York City to Saugerties over a brief two-day period.

Five of the nine young scouts who took the last 100-mile bike hike followed the Scout trail up to eventually become Eagle Scouts, and leaders hope the new boys will do as well.

New Laws Explained

By Congressman

Joseph Y. Resnick

Problems of a Housewife

There's at least one thing that a housewife in Beacon has with a housewife in Kingston, or Kinderhook or Catskill—or even Washington. And it's this: shopping can be a pretty confusing experience.

I'm not an authority on this subject. But even a Congressman sometimes finds himself charged with the responsibility of going down to the local supermarket to do some of the family's shopping. And the reason I find it confusing is that its very difficult—and often absolutely impossible—to find the best dollar values among similar products.

Which Is Better Buy?

For example, despite my scientific and technical background, I find it impossible to stand in front of a shelf and decide which package is the better buy: one that contains 20 ounces and costs 35 cents, or one that contains 24½ ounces and costs 40 cents. And I become thoroughly confused when I see a pint of floor wax labeled as a "giant" pint. I always thought that all pints were the same size. The confusion is compounded still further when one takes home one of those "giant size" boxes of something-or-other, and finds that they have not been filled to the top, but had simply deceived the customer into thinking he was buying a larger quantity.

And then there is the far more serious problem of buying foods, drugs, shampoos, and other commodities which have had a variety of additives and various harsh or perhaps even harmful ingredients added to them. And yet there is often nothing on the labels of these products advising the consumer what the ingredients are, so that he can avoid certain harsh substances if he desires to.

In order to bring some order into the chaos of modern packaging practices, a bill known as the Fair Packaging and Labeling bill (S. 985) has been introduced. It is more commonly known as the "Truth in Packaging" bill. The efficient operation of our free enterprise economy depends on well informed consumers making wise choices in the market place. In packaging the consumer is often denied the information he needs to make these wise choices and to get the best values at the lowest price.

Techniques Costly

A whole series of techniques has been developed by packagers and manufacturers to prevent the consumer from making price comparisons between brands. These include fractionalized ounces, deceptive sizes and shapes, and price increases hidden by package size reductions. Such techniques add to our cost of living.

The consumer can contribute greatly to holding the line against rising prices if he has clear and unambiguous information on which to base his choices. Since passage of packaging legislation would increase the consumers fund of buying information, the legislation can rightly be considered an anti-inflation measure.

Provisions of Bill

The Truth in Packaging bill would allow the government to proceed, with all of the protections of due process of law, against the following practices:

Inconspicuous quantity designations;

Manufacturers' "cents off" promotions when there is no assurance that the cents off are actually passed on to the consumer;

Confusing adjectives, such as "giant," "quart";

Fractional ounces which make comparative shopping difficult. For example, which is the better buy: 2-lbs. 6 oz. for 98 cents, or 34.6 oz. for 81 cents.

Slack-filled boxes;

Deceptive size designations (such as the "large" size of toothpaste which is really the smallest size the manufacturer makes);

Lack of ingredients information when this may be important. The bill would not:

Standardize all packages and make shopping uninteresting. The fact that whisky comes in fifths has not made whisky bottles unattractive or unimaginative;

Cost industry so much that consumer prices would rise. Packages and labels are frequently changed already, often hiding price increases;

Stifle innovation and development of new products. Competition will always motivate businessmen to improve their products;

Establish a bureaucratic "packaging czar" with unlimited authority to make supermarkets into G.I.-type warehouses;

The full protection of due process of law is written into the bill to protect against unwarranted use of authority.

Interest Is Noted

Consumer Reports, the leading consumer magazine, with one million readers, reports that there has been more interest in this subject than in any other consumer issue during the 30-year history of its publication.

Enactment of Fair Packaging and Labeling legislation would improve the consumers ability to seek out bargains. Mrs. Esther Peterson, Special Assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs, recently said: "Because of the deception in packaging today, the housewife who seeks a bargain must go to the supermarket with a slide rule. I do not think a bargain should have to be hunted with a slide rule. The housewife has been misled too long. Since the packagers have shown little inclination to tell the housewife the truth voluntarily, I think there is no choice but to pass this bill and make the truth mandatory."

America's economy centers on the consumer, and yet for too long a time the consumer has had too little voice and too little weight in government. Perhaps the situation is now changing. It will be very interesting to see how Congress and how the American housewife reacts to the "Truth in Packaging" bill.

Pack 20 Meeting

Everett Landers announced today that the pack will meet at Hurley Reformed Church Friday 7:30 p. m. Richard Rioux, cubmaster was proud to announce that the Hurley Cubs came from the Scout Spectacular with two ribbons.

The booth showed the history of ships, the Merrimac and the Monitor before and after. The show by all dens and the Webber's was the reenactment of the battle of the Merrimac and the Monitor at Hampton Roads. The theme for the March meeting will be King Arthur.

Cuts His Funeral Bill

LONDON (AP)—The Duke of Norfolk, who organized Sir Winston Churchill's funeral, has completed plans to cut the cost of his own death.

His lawyers won approval in the High Court Tuesday for a crippling death duties on his real settlement designed to avoid estate and other holdings worth more than 3 million pounds, $8.3 million.

The 57-year-old duke has no son, and the heir to his title and estate is his cousin, Lord Howard, who is 80.

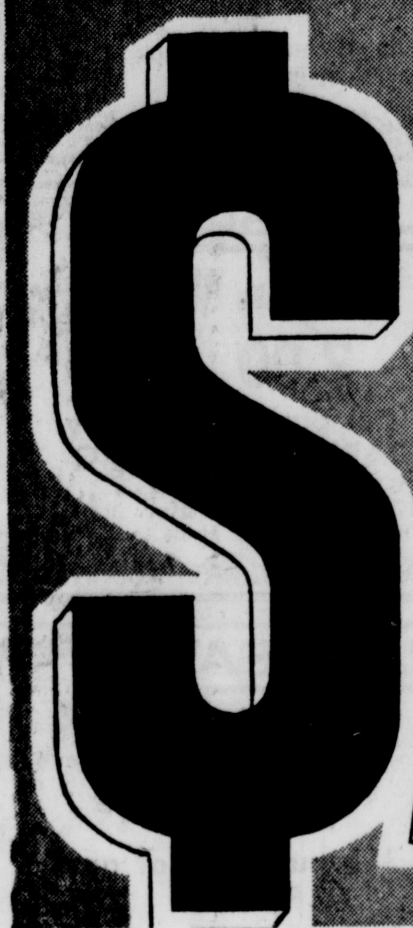

If the duke died before Lord Howard, the estate would face two quick bites of death duties which in Britain can total more than half of what a person leaves.

Under the complicated settlement, Lord Howard renounced his interest in the estate, but provision was made for the duke's four daughters and Lord Howard's children.

Beethoven One Of Those Rare TV Experiences

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The distance between "Batman" and Beethoven is, by any measure, vast. But ABC bridged it neatly Wednesday night in an awesome demonstration of television's versatility and change of pace.

Taking last things first, there was a study of the great German composer's lonely, almost secret, struggle against deafness, done by great sensitivity, visual beauty and glorious sound.

Called "Beethoven: Ordeal and Triumph," the program was part of the network's "Saga of Western Man" series but was less a reflection on a society than a story of a man's victory over a terrible personal affliction.

The tale was told by using TV's now familiar biographical and documentary technique — filming actual sites and relics of the subject's life and circumstances while narration by an unseen speaker goes on. This time it was used with great skill.

The color photographs were especially beautiful. Beethoven's soaring music, played by the Boston Symphony and pianist Claude Frank, was sometimes an almost inaudible background to the words and then swelled and roared. When the story reached the point where the young musician, at the peak of his talents, was losing his hearing, the experience was shared by the viewer. The voice of David McCallum, reading Beethoven's words, rose almost to a scream of agony. It was valid and very moving.

John Secondari's script and narration were just right for the subject, too. All in all it was one of those rare and happy television experiences.

Earlier in the evening this viewer's attention turned again to the antics of that "caped crusader" and his masked ward summoned from Wayne Manor once again to cope with that "abominable avian, Mr. Penguin," who has some deep and evil plan to snatch the diamonds of a rich heiress.

CONGRESSMAN ATTACKED IN OFFICE—Rep. James C. Cleveland, R-N.H., was robbed and stabbed by a masked bandit in his Capitol Hill office. Cleveland said the bandit took $30 to $40 from him. In the photo, he holds a knife used by another bandit in Feb., 1965, when he was chased by a knife-wielding assailant when he went to the aid of a woman near his Washington home. (AP Wirephoto)

Thinks Farmers' Division Would Be Advantage

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Farmers should be divided, rather than united, if they want to be heard after reapportionment of political districts, agricultural leaders were told today.

Columnist Sam Lubell, director of Columbia University's Opinion Reporting Workshop, gave his views in a talk prepared for Cornell University's annual Agricultural Leaders' Forum.

Lubell said farmers would benefit by being divided so that neither major political party could take their votes for granted.

"The farmers' secret weapon has been his own economic disunity," he said.

Milton Alpert, deputy commissioner of the State Office of Local Government, told the group the Legislature should pass a measure to pave the way for speedy reapportionment of local legislative bodies.

If the Legislature does not act, "the courts will most certainly have to move in" as they did with redistricting the Senate and Assembly, Alpert said in a prepared speech.

Farmers Home Agency Has Job Opportunities

"Career job opportunities are available with the Farmers Home Administration, United States Department of Agriculture," says Barthly L. Beach, state director. "By applying for civilian employment with this Federal agency of the agricultural department, you can serve your country in an important role."

Position openings are available throughout New York State. Normal retirements and transfers and new agency responsibilities make it possible that new employees might be needed in many of the 56 rural counties throughout New York State.

Beach said a great need exists for Home Economists and County Supervisors. Basic educational requirements are a full 4-year course of study in an accredited college. Applicants who do not have a degree may qualify provided they have a total of at least 30 semester hours of course work in the agricultural fields, plus sufficient education or experience of an appropriate nature to total four years.

Applicants may write to Barthly L. Beach, state director, Farmers Home Administration, Room 412, 700 East Water Street, Syracuse, 13210, giving a brief resume of their education and experience. They will be instructed immediately how to apply for a civil service rating.

Doubts Seeding Clouds Will Add to Rainfall

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold G. Wilm, former New York State conservation commissioner, says it is uncertain whether seeding clouds will result in more rainfall than normal.

Wilm, now director of the Water Resources Institute, Syracuse, told a Senate subcommittee Wednesday, however, that he endorsed a bill that would lead to rainmaking experiments.

The subcommittee is holding hearings on the measure, which would authorize $155 million over the next three years for weather research and "such sums as thereafter may be necessary."

Wilm resigned the conservation post earlier this year.

Had 'Hot Spots'

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An unmanned Apollo spacecraft sent on a test flight last Feb. 26 developed "hot spots" as it plunged back to earth.

Project officials said the 11,000-pound spacecraft will get improved insulation as a result of the test.

46 Are Running in Alabama

Negro Candidates Must Also Sell Whites on Change Need

Editor's Note — For the first time this century, Negroes are running for public office in a dozen rural counties of Alabama. What are their views? What of the new Negro voters? The reaction of white residents? The following report is based on a trip through the area involved.

An AP Special Report
By DON MCKEE

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Negro candidates are discovering they must convince not only white voters but some Negroes as well that it is time for political changes in rural Alabama. Fear still is a reality in some areas. "Some Negroes think it is not time yet to elect Negroes," said the Rev. Frank Smith, a civil rights leader in rural Wilcox County. "They are afraid the Negro wouldn't know what he is doing. They seem to have that inferiority complex."

and the narrow margin of white or Negro voting majorities in some areas. Until recent months, there were few Negro voters in the Black Belt counties. The Voting Rights Act changed that.

The Negro attitude ranges from outright opposition to Negro candidates to hopes of biracial politics and the militancy of the Black Panther partisans.

White reaction often is that of worried head-shaking, sometimes alarm and occasionally resignation.

The Black Belt seems quiet. Perhaps the racial struggle, long fought in the streets, is moving into the political arena.

"Sometimes I think it is too quiet," said Henry McCaskill of Greensboro, about 50 miles northwest of Selma. "Like waiting for a time bomb to go off."

He is running for sheriff of Hale County against three white men. McCaskill is the only Negro running for any office in his county. Why?

"The Negro," he said, "is still overcome with the shadow of fear. If we ever overcome fear, we have it made."

Negroes have a slight voting edge in the county. But McCask-ill, a Baptist preacher and jewelry company representative, said he would not get all the Negro votes. He expects to win, however.

In adjoining Green County, Sheriff William Lee is confident of winning re-election even though he must get about 1,000 Negro votes to do so. Lee, in fact, laughed about his opposition. And one Negro candidate said Lee would get many Negro votes.

The challenger is the Rev. Thomas E. Gilmore, 24, a Baptist preacher and project director for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. Gilmore, who wears a tall black hat with fur-like fringes, said he was running in order to combat the fears that Negroes have for white persons and law enforcement officers.

"I feel this is one of the first steps in getting rid of fears," he said. "The sheriff will get about as many Negro votes as I will white votes — very few."

In Perry County, Negroes are divided.

"Some didn't like the slate of candidates and got disgruntled over it," said Lawrence Johnson, 73, a retired farm agent who runs the cooperative store of the civil rights group in Marion, 30 miles northwest of Selma.

"Some will vote for white candidates," he said.

One of the Negro candidates in Perry County, the Rev. Obie L. Scott, is a brother of Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. King is the SCLC president.

Scott, a slender man of 35, is a candidate for tax collector. He has two white opponents.

At Eufaula, on the eastern boundary of Alabama, there are 13 Negro candidates running in Barbour County — home of Gov. George C. Wallace. Nine of the Negroes seek seats on the Democratic Executive Committee.

But in this county, the Negro voters number about 2,000 less than the white voters. John Kelly Jr., a Negro leader and candidate for the Board of Education, said a renewed registration drive was under way and possibly could add 2,000 voters.

The candidate for sheriff is Wesley McNear, 32, a bachelor and apprentice mortician.

"Even if I lose," he said, "the sheriff will be almost forced to hire a Negro deputy. One way or the other we win."

Keeps Him in Minority Role

Duryea Not Particularly Pleased With Court Word

By CHARLES DUMAS
ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Only one of the four top-ranking leaders in the Legislature really is discontented with the new election districts prescribed by the Court of Appeals.

Despite some public expressions of concern, Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia, Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges and Senate Minority Leader Joseph Zaretski are well pleased.

For them, the court-ordered plan would appear to continue the status quo — to keep them reasonably secure in the coveted leadership posts they now occupy.

Speaker's Chair His Goal
But the status quo does not suit the fourth member of the legislative high command — Assembly Minority Leader Perry B. Duryea Jr.

The tall, handsome and aggressive Republican lawmaker from Long Island nurses a lightly concealed ambition to become governor. The next stop now on his political timetable would be the Assembly speaker's chair. He might be able to catapult himself to the top from that lofty position.

He could languish interminably in the relatively powerless minority role.

Barring any landslide in the November election, Republicans figure to retain their command of the Senate, while Democrats maintain their comfortable majority in the Assembly.

Naturally, Brydges and Travia relish this prospect. Their jobs not only carry great power and prestige but are lucrative, too. The two top leaders each draw $16,500 a year, in addition to the $11,000 paid to rank-and-file legislators.

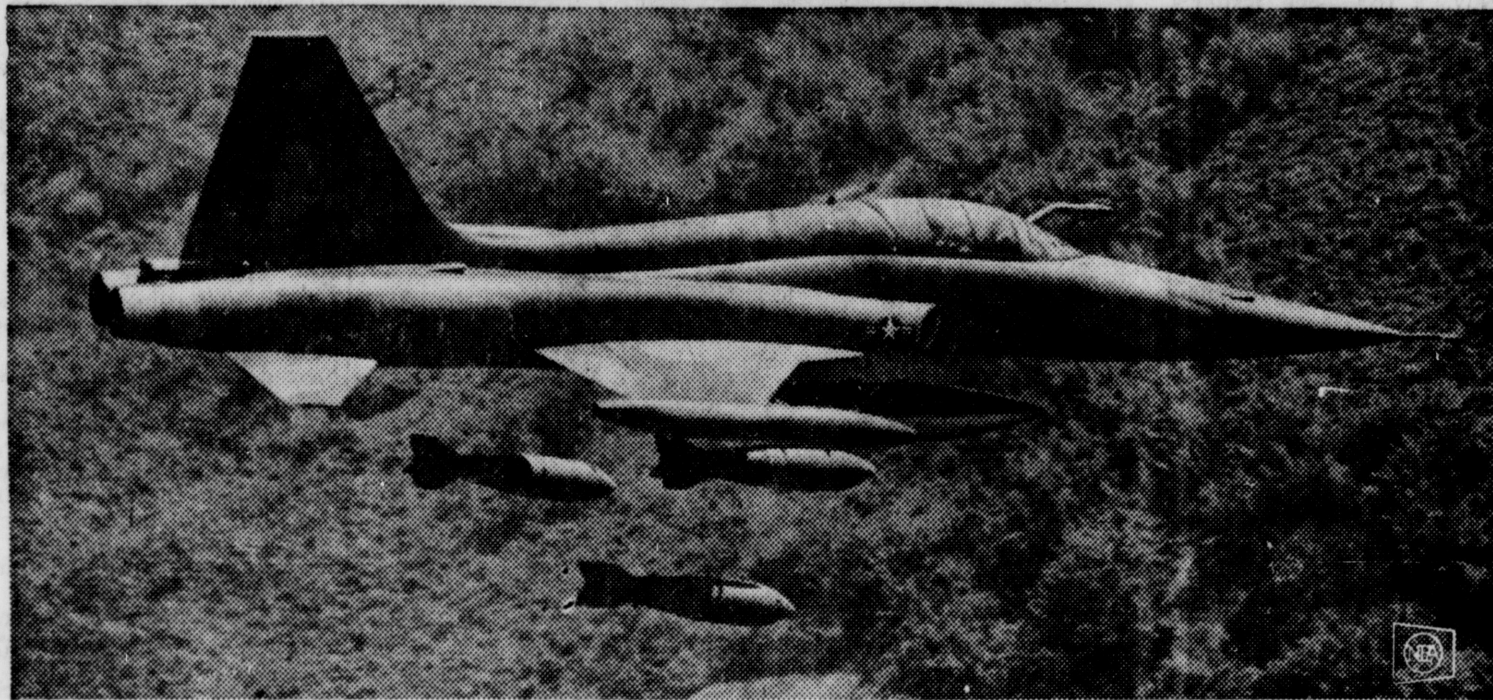

Travia has observed that Democrats still have a fighting chance in the Senate, while Brydges has expressed similar hopes for GOP success in the Assembly.

These were regarded as proforma comments, however. The Senate's Democratic minority leader, Joseph Zaretski, grumbled a bit about the prospect of losing the Senate again. But he was far from melancholy.

As minority leader, Zaretski is free from the massive burdens of Brydges' job — and he still draws an extra $15,500. Besides, at the age of 66, he does not feel the spur of ambition that motivates Duryea.

Not Impossible Job
Zaretski appeared to be primarily concerned with the shape of his own Senate district in Manhattan. He liked it. "They did well by me this time," he said with a twinkling smile.

Although most other knowledgeable Republicans freely wrote off the Assembly as Democratic terrain next November, Duryea would not assent — either publicly or privately. "It's going to be difficult," he said, tight-lipped, "but not impossible."

TIGER STRIKES—Although this F-5 Freedom Fighter's mission is part of an experiment, the bomb-load it's delivering over a Viet Cong target in South Viet Nam is the real thing. F-5s, organized in the 4503d Tactical Fighter Squadron, dubbed "Skoshi Tigers," are being tested in combat to determine effectiveness of this small, inexpensive fighter compared with the heavier, more sophisticated planes which have been bearing the brunt in Viet Nam. They have been hitting southern targets since last Nov. 1 and began strikes against Communist North Viet Nam Feb. 28.

Gives Background Of Lynda Bird's Friend, George

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What kind of a fellow is Lynda Bird Johnson's boy friend, George Hamilton?

He is a 26-year-old charmer who can regale a dinner table with story after story with the finesse of a sophisticated Bob Newhart.

He has been called, by friend Peter Fonda, "Jay Gatsby with a mortgage," after the ambitious, wealth-worshipping hero of F. Scott Fitzgerald.

He is a practicing Christian Scientist.

He is a better actor than most critics give him credit for being. He has appeared in some of the worst pictures in recent times ("All the Fine Young Cannibals," "By Love Possessed," "Act One"), but even in a lemon like "To the Victors" he can shine through with a certain earnestness.

He has never had an acting lesson: "For me, the best tools are my own emotions." He once had a mad, gay engagement with actress Susan Kohner but they called it off. He is a son of wealth, but he claims he arrived in Hollywood with $90 and created a career all by himself.

Tractor Mishap Fatal

NASSAU, N.Y. (AP)—Wallace Pinney, 45, of Brinard, was killed Wednesday when his farm tractor overturned on him here, about 6 miles from the Massachusetts line.

Pinney was dragging logs out of a wooded area when the accident occurred.

He was born Aug. 12, 1939, in Memphis, Tenn., and attended 25 different schools.

He likes to drive his Rolls-Royce into a gas station and tell the attendant, "Fill'er up"; the tank holds 50 gallons.

His mother is a latter-day Auntie Mame who has been married four times and presides over the 39-room house she shares with George.

Dude and Dandy

He is a dude, not to mention a dandy, and dresses in Edwardian style, usually with vests and tightly tied ties.

He never showed much interest in politics until the 1964 election, when he appeared at a rally or two for the Johnson ticket.

He has been careful not to comment on his friendship with Lynda Bird and the growing rumors that they will wed.

He comments on his own way of life: "Today, the young people of Hollywood seem to be embarrassed by glamor. I never am. It's always been a part of my life."

Bill's Benefits

The original GI Bill provides for those who were in service before Jan. 31, 1955, and did not use their benefits and who were still in service after that date. Any GI in that position is eligible for full benefits; is eligible for 18 months of education if he had previously used up 18 months of his 36; but is no longer eligible if he had used all 36 months under the old benefits.

closed circuit station on Channel 6, simulcasting the event.

Later, a buffet dinner, entertainment and dance will be held at the Homowack Lodge, Spring Glen. Tickets for the evening event may be obtained from Murray Weisberg, lodge chancellor commander or members of his committee.

Impressive Guest List

Among those to appear are Barney Ross, former lightweight and middleweight boxing champion; Peg Leg Bates; Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick who will be guest of honor at the Homowack; Assemblyman John S. McBride; Art Sutton and the Bluegrass Cutups; Dick Hall; Alan Tressler; Richard Tarbell; the Legends; Norman Leigh; Billy Lewis; Harry Castiglione, president of Local 125 American Federation of Musicians and Ellenville Mayor Eugene M. Glusker.

Many other stars are expected to attend also, including Jack Dempsey. Master of ceremonies will be Bud Robinson of area radio fame.

The entire proceedings will be handled by local people with members of Awosting Lodge manning TV cameras and other equipment. Personnel from the radio station will tend the audio equipment.

To Accept Pledge

The members of Awosting Temple, Pythian Sisters, will man the battery of five telephones to accept pledges. Tickets to the evening activities at the Homowack may be ordered during the telethon.

The public may visit the auditorium during the show.

The Awosting Lodge annually raises funds to aid the local CP Center. This year's proceeds will go to the building fund of the proposed facility in Kingston.

Cool Air Sends Mercury Down in Western Sector

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Record-breaking high temperatures for Western New York were short-lived, as cool air sent the thermometer today on a short descent and brought promises of more seasonable weather.

Buffalo and Rochester each recorded highs of 78 degrees Wednesday, topping previous records for the date in both cities.

Syracuse registered 72 degrees, far below its record of 81, set in 1938.

The eastern part of the state experienced seasonable weather with temperatures in the 50s. Buffalo's old mark for March 23 was 70 degrees and Rochester's was 77, both set in 1938.

Jury Indicts Two on Drug Charges

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A 12-man Monroe County jury found a steel industrialist's granddaughter and a young college dropout guilty early today of felony marijuana charges.

After deliberating five hours, the jury returned after midnight with verdicts against Miss Susan Ryerson, 23, a former teacher at the exclusive Harley School in Rochester, and Peter I. deLissovoy of Chicago who dropped out of Harvard to become a civil rights worker.

DeLissovoy was found guilty of possession of marijuana with intent to sell or give it away. Miss Ryerson was convicted of aiding and abetting him, also a felony.

April 18 Sentencing
Judge George D. Ogden set April 18 for sentencing and continued each free on bail of $2,500.

The pair were arrested last June 1 when police said they found 40.8 grams of high-grade marijuana in a valise in Miss Ryerson's Rochester apartment.

Both defense attorneys said they intended to appeal the verdicts.

After hearing the verdict, deLissovoy said:

"I was surprised and shocked that they found Susan guilty. I know her to have been innocent."

Ogden dismissed Tuesday earlier indictments charging the pair with conspiracy with intent to sell marijuana, and an indictment charging Miss Ryerson with two counts of being an accessory to possession of the drug.

Ogden said neither the indictment nor the bill of particulars alleges any overt act to constitute the crime of conspiracy.

5-15 Years Possible

Miss Ryerson and deLissovoy could be sentenced from 5 to 15 years in state prison.

Police charged earlier that deLissovoy, a free-lance writer, and Miss Ryerson had been engaged in mailing marijuana to people, many of them college students, in various southern states and Massachusetts.

The pair was traced through "the sweet smell of a letter" they allegedly sent to a 20-year-old woman in Asheville, N.C. The woman, Miss Andrea C. Clark was later charged with transporting marijuana through the mails.

Miss Ryerson is a granddaughter of Edward L. Ryerson Jr., a former board chairman of Inland Steel Co.

She now is a student at Columbia University's Teacher's College in New York City.

Story of Two In Cancer Swap Brings Letters

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The story of two patients at Roswell Park Memorial Institute who are fighting a deadly bone cancer has resulted in "pleading letters" from other cancer victims all over the world who seek a cure, a hospital spokesman said today.

"We have had letters from persons in France, Germany and Italy who are suffering from all types of cancer," the spokesman said.

Have False Hopes

It is unfortunate that some, who before had been resigned to their fates, have now been buoyed up with false hopes, he added.

All the letters are answered by Dr. Sigmund H. Nadler, associate chief cancer research surgeon at the state's cancer research and treatment center.

Such publicity has led two 21-year-old cancer victims to seek the same treatment now being given Robert F. Allen, 29, of Tucson, Ariz., and Harry T. Griffith, 63, of Flourtown, Pa.

Roswell Park disclosed Welker of Conrad, Mont., and Larry Rink of Centerville, Mich., have had malignant tissue taken from their bodies and implanted in each other's leg. A similar transplant operation was performed on Allen and Griffith on March 4.

Are Like Cases

All four suffer from the same type of cancer known as osteogenic sarcoma. They seek to prolong their lives through the experimental treatment.

Allen and Griffith have been receiving daily transfusions of each other's white blood cells. Welker and Rink also will exchange white blood cells. It is hoped that the transplant will enable each partner in the experiment to develop a resistance to the other's foreign cancer cells. The transfusion of white blood cells is meant to build up a resistance to each partner's own cancer cells, Nadler said.

Welker and Rink, as well as Allen, have lost a leg to the deadly disease. Rink's limb was amputated last May at the University of Chicago.

In Good Condition

The four men, listed in good condition, spend much of their time in their hospital rooms reading and watching television.

The Rev. Luther Ash, pastor of the Centerville Baptist Church of which Rink and his wife, Jean, are members, has launched a fund-raising drive to help the young couple.

Welker, who underwent the transplant operation Friday, played football for the University of Montana in 1963 and 1964, but was forced to drop the sport last year when he was stricken, his mother, Mr. Marion Welker, said.

"It's an answer to our prayers," she said of the experimental treatment. "And there have been encouraging results on record."

Tri-Semester Plan Opposed by Faculty

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—The tri-semester system at the State University College here "just hasn't worked out," says the faculty senate, which wants the college to abandon the plan.

The 51-member group, representing 300 teachers, told President G. Bruce Dearing Wednesday that the system caused "staffing problems and strains on the curriculum."

The senate said it might recommend a return to the fall-and-spring semester system or a four-quarter plan.

The tri-semester plan was adopted in 1963, with courses beginning in July, November and March.

Wilson Reports Support of Bill For Retirement

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County stated today that he has received word from the state president of the Association of New York State Highway Employees, Lawrence W. Castler, that the state-wide highway group has gone on record as fully endorsing the Wilson bill to allow Civil Service employees to retire at their own request after 25 years of service and receive a retirement allowance immediately, regardless of their age.

Wilson said that his bill would affect all persons who are members of the New York State Retirement System whether they are employed by the State, or by some other level of government in the State.

Assemblyman Wilson said that the bill, which already has been approved by the State Assembly and is now before the State Senate for consideration, has won the full support of at least one major union, Local 300 of the Building Service Employees Union, and that he certainly welcomes the recent support given his bill by the State Highway Employees Association.

According to the state president of the association, that organization was planning to submit a similar piece of legislation to the State Legislature this year, but since the bill introduced by Assemblyman Wilson would serve exactly the same purpose, the association has decided to drop their proposed measure for a 25 year retirement plan and support Assemblyman Wilson's legislation.

Previously Assemblyman Wilson had stated that some state and municipal employees already have the right to retire after 25 years of service, and he felt that the same right should be extended to all persons who are members of the New York State Retirement System.

Hauls in Chest Of Rare Coins Valued at $2,800

HAVANT, England (AP) — Terence Davey hauled up a box while fishing off Hayling Island two months ago. In it were 77 silver coins from the 16th century, thought to be worth about $2,800.

Davey, 27, an unemployed laborer and the father of three children took the coins to the police. An inquest was held and a coroner ruled the coins belonged to the finder.

"I had to wait a month for that decision," said Davey. "Then I spent a small fortune traveling round museums, dealers and experts trying to get the coins accurately valued. One firm wanted one-fifth of their worth just to value them."

"And I have had nothing but disputes with my two brothers about selling the treasure, because they were with me when I found it."

Finally came a letter from the customs and Excise Department forbidding the sale of the coins because the receiver of wrecks claimed them. The receiver of wrecks would keep them for a year, then sell them if they were not claimed. The finder would get a third of the net profit and the government would get the rest.

"That was the last straw," said Davey. He took the box out to sea Tuesday and dumped it overboard.

Lt. Charlene Suneson was the first woman ever assigned to sea duty as a line officer of the United States Navy.

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — "I can't swim" were the last words a 14-year-old boy yelled to his companions Wednesday before he fell from a raft into a pond and drowned here.
Gary Moore of Geneva was on the raft with another boy when he fell into the pond at the rear of Geneva Junior High School, police said. Two other companions had pushed the raft out onto the pond and later told police that Gary yelled to them, "I can't swim."

Speakers Criticize N. Y. Medicare Plan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A state plan to provide medical care to the needy was under attack today on grounds that the wrong agency was in charge and that the plan needed more study.

Several speakers at a Senate hearing Wednesday on the plan, which would link with the federal Medicare program, criticized the designation of the Department of Social Welfare as the supervising agency instead of the Health Department.

In addition, witnesses complained that Gov. Rockefeller did not reveal specific plans until March 9 and said this was too late for a complete review.

Won't Affect Profits

PIKEVILLE, KY. (AP)—Robert Holcomb, president of the National Independent Coal Operators Association, says amendments to a federal coal mine safety law passed last week would not affect the profits of small mines.

Holcomb said small-mine operators were exempted from provisions of the safety code by the amendments.

Today is Thursday, March 24, the 83rd day of 1966. There are 282 days left in the year.

Spring Arrives With Some Cuts In Food Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — Spring arrived this week, and with it lower prices for food shoppers. The prospect is for lower prices for pork, turkey, chicken and eggs.

Lamb is likely to be more costly when the early spring lambs move to market next month. There may not be as many available this year, because farmers are holding back so many more ewes.

In the dairy section, the outlook is for higher prices than 1965. Milk production is down. So are butter and cheese.

In produce, cold weather has stalled the growth of vegetables in Florida.

Cold weather also has stalled the growth of the spinach crop in California, and heavy rains have disrupted the strawberry harvest in Mexico.

Peas, applesauce, pimento and king crab are plentiful. But there is less canned asparagus, creamed corn, frozen broccoli, tuna fish and oysters.

Orange juice currently is the lowest-priced single-strength citrus juice, the reverse of its usual position. Prices of frozen orange juice concentrate also have been lower than a year ago.

Reserve Decision On Legality of Search at Malden

Whether the search of a truck at the Malden Hot Shoppe parking area on the Thruway Feb. 13, 1965, was illegal is a question which County Judge Raymond J. Mino has been asked to determine.

Howard R. Quick Jr., also known as Butch, has challenged the actions of Thruway State Trooper Edward A. Zboris who testified Wednesday at a hearing before Judge Mino that he became suspicious of Quick while making a routine search of a truck at the parking area.

Finds Various Items

Observing two screwdrivers, a pinch-bar, gloves, two bottles of whiskey and money in the front of the truck while making a routine search, Trooper Zboris testified he has placed Quick and his companion, John V. Schoonmaker, also of Kingston, under arrest on a charge of possession of burglary tools. The two were later turned over to Kingston Police Department officers and later indicted on burglary charges.

Trooper Zboris testified that at the time he believed the two were burglary "suspects." In a routine check at the restaurant area, the trooper said he had observed one of the men looking into a car parked in the area while the other man was in the panel truck of Phil's Window Cleaning Service.

While checking the driver of the truck for license papers, Trooper Zboris said he noticed the pinch-bar, two screwdrivers, gloves and whiskey and also money on the floor of the truck.

The observation was made while he stood by the truck and flashed a spotlight into the front of the car while the driver was producing license papers from a glove compartment. The trooper testified it appeared the driver was attempting to cover up the money on the floor of the truck with papers from the glove compartment.

His suspicions aroused Trooper Zboris talked to Quick who stated they had broken into machines in Kingston and asked the trooper for a "break." Zboris testified he had informed Quick of his constitutional rights and told him anything he said could be used against him. He also informed Quick he could give him no "break" and then placed Quick under arrest along with Schoonmaker.

Given Into Custody

The two were taken to Lake Katrine state police barracks and later turned over to Kingston Police Department.

Trooper Zboris testified that he had never filed a complaint against the two men, had never arraigned them under the arrest charge of possession of burglary tools.

Assistant District Attorney James H. Fisher appeared for the prosecution and Francis Martocci appeared for Quick.

The motion of Quick was for suppression of evidence, contending that the evidence gained at the time of the search should be suppressed on the grounds the search was illegal.

In Full View

Trooper Zboris testified the articles were in full view and caused suspicion and that after the arrest of the two men a search was made of the entire truck.

The incident took place at 3:20 a. m. on Feb. 13, 1965.

Defense counsel Martocci contended the search of the vehicle was illegal and charged that the evidence should be suppressed. On cross examination the trooper said he had no search warrant but was making a routine check when the men acted suspicious as he drove into the rest area. When he asked for a license, Trooper Zboris said he flashed the light into the front compartment of the truck as a "protection" for himself when the occupant opened the glove compartment. Trooper Zboris was operating alone at the time. He testified that a later check of money revealed a total of $231 in cash.

Judge Mino reserved decision after stating that it was a question whether the arrest and search was justified in view of the fact that there had never been any prosecution of the burglary charge on which Quick was originally arrested.

hints from
Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks:
So many of you write to ask how to remove candle drippings from lovely dining room tables, etc.

After wracking my brain and testing all submitted suggestions here is a method that works for me.

Don't try to remove candle drippings from furniture immediately. Leave it overnight until it is completely solidified.

Tear off a big piece of aluminum foil (not plastic wrap as this will ruin the finish) and lay over the damaged area.

Get a small terry cloth hand towel or large washcloth and dip it in very hot water, or run it under the hot water tap until it is completely saturated, then wring it out thoroughly.

Take the hot, steamy, folded towel and lay it on top of the foil for about three minutes — being very careful not to let the damp towel touch the wood surface. It must stay on the foil.

Lift the foil up and see if the wax is in soft form. It should look like biscuit dough! If it isn't, try another steam towel. (This depends on how much wax is piled up on your table top.)

Then... using your hand, just pick up that wad of wax. It should literally slide off.

While the wood is still warm take some facial tissues and rub real hard with the grain of the wood, and you will have nary a scratch or any of that nasty wax dripping left.

And that's all there is to it. Remember: Be sure to use a big piece of foil before applying the hot steam towel.

Never let anything damp touch your beautiful wood surface.

Never hold a hot steam iron above wax on furniture. I have seen that published many times before. You might ruin a beautiful piece of furniture that way. Let me tell you why:

You are putting steam into the grain of your wood! This absolutely ruins veneer! The finish absorbs moisture, and this will cause a white ring.

Never scrape melted wax with knives, etc. This makes marks on your furniture which you might never be able to remove.

And don't use cigarette lighter fluid as this removes all of the furniture waxes and leaves a dull spot.

Love,
Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I have plastic trays for ice cubes. They are wonderful in that a can snap out the cubes, but the cubes would fall all over the counter top, and would then stick on the wet surface and had to be gathered up.

One day there was a plastic bag on the drainboard, so I just slipped the tray in the bag, twisted it and bingo! All the cubes were in the bag ready to store in the freezer.

Betty McConnell

Dear Heloise:

Here's a hint for all mothers who have to help dress the soldier dolls for their young sons:

We found if we sprinkle talcum powder inside the rubberized suits and combat boots, it ends a lot of pulling and tugging and sometimes tearing.

Mrs. Harry Reynolds

Dear Heloise:

I cut the top out of a salt box (one with a pouring spout) and trim it to fit inside a mason jar ring.

It now fits over quart or pint jars which I fill with bird seed and bird gravel.

I just open the spout and pour as needed.

Pauline Flinn

Dear Heloise:

I do a lot of sewing, and before cutting out a garment I pin the pattern to the material and leave it there, thus keeping the pattern handy for reference, since frequently there are sewing directions printed on each piece of the pattern.

After I have completed the cutting, I fold the cut-out garment with the tissue and all, and place the envelope containing the sewing guide and unused parts with it.

Occasionally I can't sew the garment at once, and this eliminates a lot of hunting for instructions, etc.

After the turkey was brought to Europe from Mexico, it quickly supplanted the peacock as a table bird. The Phoenicians introduced the beautiful peacock to the ancient pharaohs of Egypt and Alexander the Great took it to Greece. The feathers were exported from India in great quantities but in Rome, and later in medieval Europe, the bird was raised for the table. Charlemagne served thousands at a single state banquet.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

I have The Kingston Freeman and Journal of Tuesday, Jan. 20, 1925. Those were the days they had the West Shore crossing and the gates at Broadway. They tell about a team of sorrel horses of Major James H. Everett which became startled Saturday afternoon, about 3 o'clock on Broadway, near the West Shore crossing. Mrs. Annie Van Leuven of 365 Wall Street, who was seated in the sleigh, jumped out near the United States Hotel property, landing on the icy brick roadway and received cuts and bruises.

Out of Tickets

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — The police department in this city of 19,000 persons let its best-kept secret out of the bag Friday.

For the first four days of the week, Chief Fred Derrick disclosed, police were unable to issue any overtime parking tickets. They were out of forms and the new ones didn't arrive until late Thursday.

SILLER HAMS

The Finest, Tastiest HAMS Available!

The accident was further described as Mrs. Van Leuven was picked up by Policeman Healey and a young man named Boss and carried into the tailoring shop of C. Smith where Dr. Leonard K. Stelle gave first aid. Later she was taken home for further medical attention. The driver of the team, Harry Kline, had left the horses standing at the side of the road with Mrs. Van Leuven in the sleigh, to leave a parcel at a store. While he was gone some slush was thrown by a passing automobile against the side of one of the sleighs, causing him to start up with a dash toward the West Shore railroad crossing. A freight train was moving over the crossing and the gates were down, and Mrs. Van Leuven, fearing the team would run through the gates, jumped out of the sleigh. The team continued across the tracks, as the train had passed and gates raised, and the horses were stopped when a man on a trolley car stuck out his arm in front of them. By that time they were going very fast. Officer Healey was able to get the team and turn it over to Kline, the driver. Mr. Boss accompanied Mrs. Van Leuven to her home. They were not runaways, although spirited horses, and had been driven nearly every day by Major Everett, their owner, then nearly 88 years old.

I have the New York Times Weekly Tribune of Monday, Aug. 29, 1904. On item tells about the estate of John D. Rockefeller, at Tarrytown-on-the-Hudson. It seems Mrs. Rockefeller, wife of the Standard Oil man gave orders to her superintendent, C. V. Hemenway, who was in charge of the estate, to allow the children of Tarrytown to pick all the apples, which had already dropped from the trees and take them home. The children came, first those who were "barefooted, dust covered bearing hats full of apples, and carrying the apples in aprons, in paper bags, and in market baskets and squeaking carts." The villagers heard about it, and the women came also early in the morning, some with baby carriages, which they filled with apples, and brought the baby back on their arm, as there was no room for the baby in the carriage full of apples.

Those passing through the village heard about it, and they too stopped and filled the bottom of their carriages with Rockefeller's apples. Supt. Hemenway said, "so long as the fruit is not picked from the trees the Tarrytown people are welcome to it. We don't bother with apples that fall off the trees. 1903 was a good apple year, and some 700 bushels were picked." It is said, it is probable that later some of the Rockefeller apples were also sent to the New York hospitals through the generosity of Mrs. John D. Rockefeller.

The front page of this 1904 issue has an entire column on Alton B. Parker who was running for president of the United States. They mention day of election at the polling place, at Humphrey's Hotel, on the Stone Road, where folks from Stony Hollow and Jockey Hill cast their ballots. They quote from the Kingston Freeman of Nov. 9, 1877, which is interesting reading.

"Sure, I'll tell you one thing that's right about it: It's paid for!"

Bills Introduced In Legislature

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller had on his desk today a bill that would bring 2½ million owners of late-model automobiles under the state program requiring annual safety inspections of motor vehicles.

The measure specifies that all motor vehicles, regardless of age, would have to be checked yearly. Present law requires inspection of vehicles four or more years old and for cars that are to be resold.

The Senate passed the bill, 34-30, Wednesday, with eight Republicans joining 26 Democrats in giving the measure its final legislative approval.

Reapportionment and divorce reform—two items not actually before either house—appeared to hold much attention Wednesday as the Senate and Assembly moved through crowded calendars.

The interest in the revision of the divorce law was sparked when the Legislature's leaders unveiled their agreement on changes in the 178-year-old statute. The agreement would broaden the law from its present single ground of adultery.

Legislative redistricting, as spelled out by a Court of Appeals edict late Tuesday, also drew a variety of comments, ranging through anger to resignation to content.

In action on other subjects Wednesday, the Legislature dealt with:

QUARTER-HORSE RACING — The Senate passed, by the minimum majority of 33-2, a measure that would permit pari-mutuel betting on quarter-horse racing.

The bill would limit the number of tracks in the state to five and would prohibit a quarter-horse track within 25 miles of an existing harness or flat racing operation.

Its sponsors estimated the tax revenue would be about $30 million a year. A similar bill passed the Senate last year, but was defeated in the Assembly.

TEACHER LEAVES — The Assembly defeated, 73-64, a proposal that would allow teachers with seven years tenure to take a sabbatical leave for travel or study. The teacher would be paid one year's salary at half pay or would draw full pay for six months.

BIDS — The Senate approved a plan that would permit the commissioner of general services to pay up to $2,500 for certain items without asking for bids. The present limit is $1,000. The measure also would allow state agencies to spend $1,000 for equipment without bidding. The present limit is $500.

JURIES — The Assembly endorsed, despite objections from the Republican minority, a measure that would exempt chiropractors from serving on juries. The Assembly also has passed bills this year that would exempt podiatrists and television and radio newsmen from jury service.

The close vote in the Senate on the motor-vehicle inspection measure marked the end of struggle for its approval by Sen. Simon J. Liebowitz, D-Brooklyn, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Traffic Safety.

The Senate last week voted down a Liebowitz inspection proposal and Wednesday's action came on a companion measure that had gained approval in the Assembly last Thursday.

Liebowitz asserted that the law was needed because many motor vehicles that are not four years old are in poor condition from a safety standpoint.

He also noted that the Senate recently had passed a bill requiring that new cars be inspected before leaving a dealer's showroom.

Opposition, mostly from Republicans, was based on claims that many inspections were not properly conducted and that the measure was a further burden on motorists.

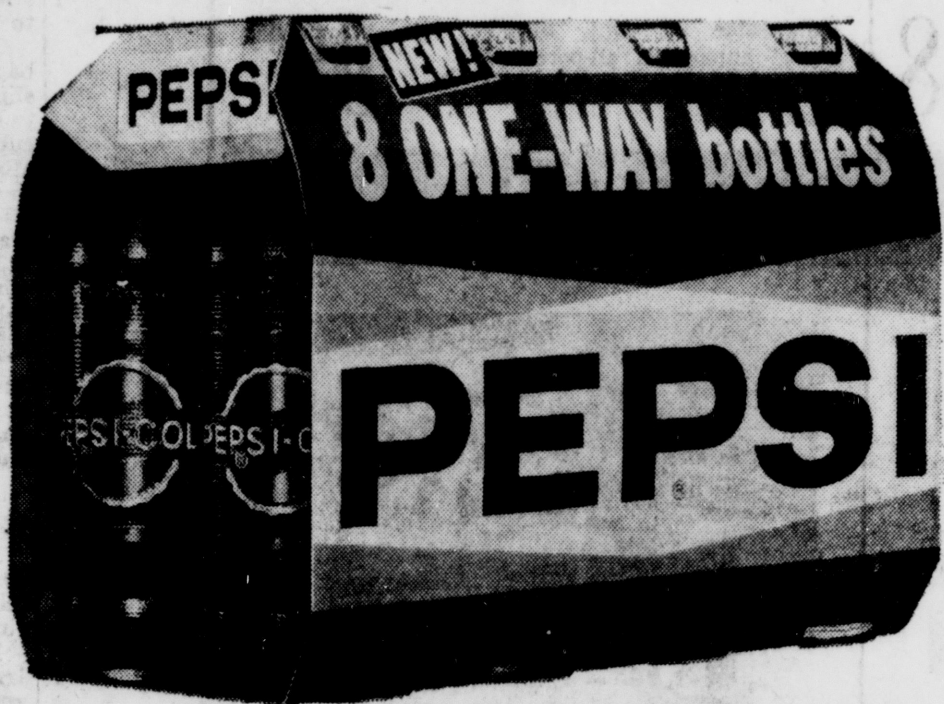

The inspection covers such equipment as lights, brakes, windshields, and steering gear. The fee for an inspection which must be performed at a state-licensed garage—is $2 in New York City and $1.50 in other parts of the state.

The measure had the backing of the Motor Vehicle Department.

Gov. Rockefeller has not indicated what action he will take on the measure.

Capitol News In Brief

LBJ Travel Plans Secret

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says President Johnson's future travel plans probably will be kept secret except for those occasions when he is making a public appearance and large crowds are desired.

A spokesman revealed this Wednesday shortly after the President returned to Washington from a hasty — and quietly arranged — trip to New York to attend the funeral of the wife of Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

Johnson's destination was not announced until he was airborne. The spokesman said the New York trip will set the pattern for similar presidential journeys.

This is because, the spokesman explained, speed and surprise are two elements in the President's trips that can add greatly to security.

U.S. Funds Available

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet ship that has run out of money for supplies will be able to get funds from the United States, says the State Department, but not until a request comes through proper channels.

The ship, the Vityaz, pulled into Manila Bay needing $4,000 to replenish its stores. It asked the American Consulate in Manila to supply the funds in the form of a guarantee to the Philippine Government.

The consulate relayed the Soviet request to Washington for instructions. Officials here said Wednesday they would be happy to help out the ship but added that the request must come from the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

Entertain Judiciary

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and his wife entertained about 500 members of the federal judiciary Wednesday night — a traditional White House social event.

The guests ranged from Chief Justice Earl Warren of the Supreme Court to district court judges. Warren and his wife stood in the receiving line in the Red Room with the Johnsons.

Johnson danced with his wife to a few medleys from "My Fair Lady" and "Hello, Dolly!" and took his leave after about two hours.

Disputes Praise For Chicago's Poverty Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., brands praise of Chicago's anti-poverty program "a great disservice to the entire concept" of the plan.

With that, Goodell, of Jamestown, N.Y., clashed Wednesday with an official of the Office of Economic Opportunity at a hearing before the House subcommittee on poverty.

When Bernard Boutin, deputy director of the OEO said "the Chicago program is the best in the country," Goodell countered, "I dispute that very strongly."

Goodell, long a critic of the program nationally as well as the way Mayor Richard Daley has administered it in Chicago, said Daley kept tight political control and ignored the intent of Congress that the poor should have a voice in administering it.

Boutin said: "We could argue about methods, but the fact is Mayor Daley is really running an outstanding program to aid the poor."

Goodell then referred to an official report of the Chicago anti-poverty board which admitted that 27½ per cent of the children in its preschool program last summer came from families with annual incomes above the $3,000 level set by OEO.

He told Boutin that the report was "probably buried in your files some place."

Soviet Audiences Will Learn History of U. S.

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Audiences in the Soviet Union will have an unprecedented opportunity next month to hear lectures on American history and affairs delivered by an American professor.

He is Clinton Rossiter, a noted Cornell University historian, who accepted an invitation from the Academy of Science of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

Cornell said Wednesday that the visit, from April 12 to May 1, was unprecedented because the invitation came from the academy, a group regarded as the governing body of education in that country.

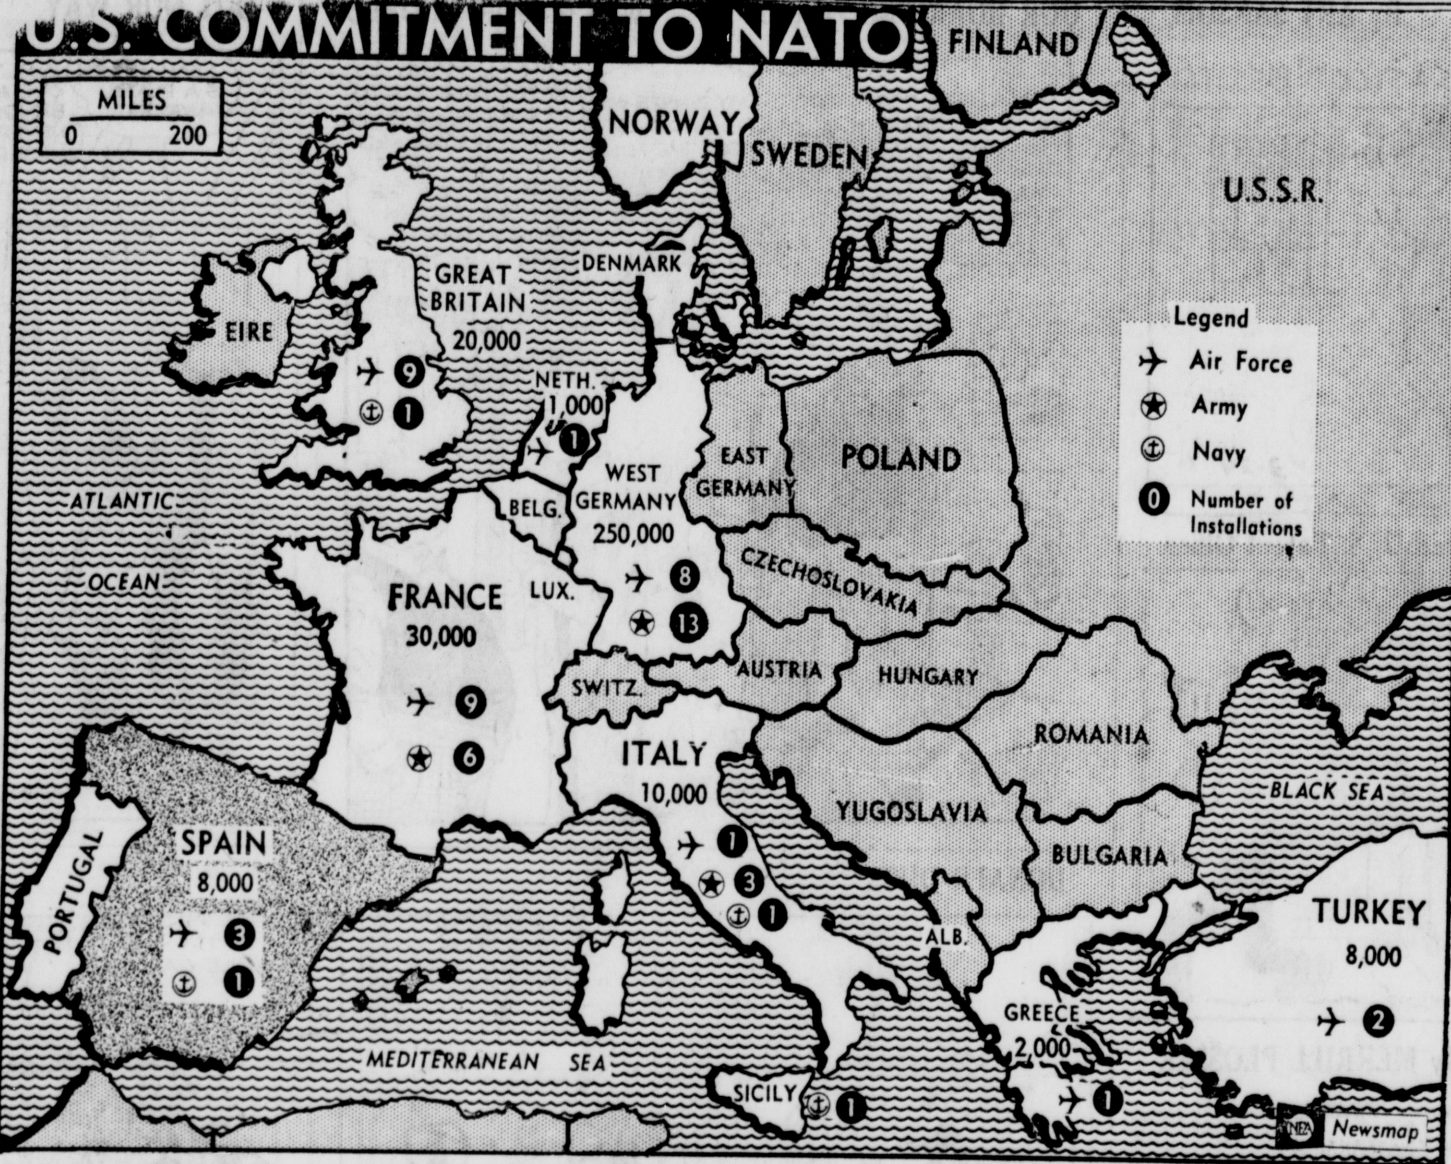

Rossiter said he welcomed the opportunity to talk to scholars in the Soviet Union who view the American revolution and other events in that period in a different manner than even the most critical Western scholars. most critical Western scholars.

Wide-ranging reorganization of U.S. forces in Europe will result if President De Gaulle carries through on his demands for changes in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization military setup. Fighting forces affected by American refusal to accept French command of all foreign military personnel on French soil will be primarily Air Force units, but supply lines which now for the most part run through France also will have to be relocated. Newsmap shows present deployment of land, air and sea forces in the European NATO countries and Spain. Boxed figures indicate approximate total of U.S. military personnel in each country. In addition, the U.S. 6th Fleet patrols the Mediterranean but is not based in any one country.

Janitor Recently Freed From Jail Gets Altar Bids

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — One 53-year-old widow sent Stephen Dennison photographs of herself dressed in a bikini, while a 34-year-old divorcee with seven children wrote "Marry me and you'll never be sorry."

These were two of the marriage proposals that have flooded in on the white-haired Dennison in the week since he was awarded $115,000 as compensation for 34 years' imprisonment for stealing candy.

Dennison, now 57, was sent to prison when he was 16 for the theft of candy and marshmallows worth $5 from a roadside stand.

Woman Even Calls

Today, Dennison, an unemployed janitor, reads his mail in a bare-walled, boarding-house room furnished with a bed, a chair and a dresser.

He said he had received about 100 letters in six days and added:

"I read all the mail, but I'm only going to answer a couple. One woman in Memphis called me long-distance three times. The mails weren't fast enough for her."

Dennison estimated that most of his mail came from the South, with a sprinkling from New England and California.

Some women, he said, wrote simply to apologize for the injustice and to wish him well.

The others, he said, indicated they were in financial straits but nothing that $10 or $15,000 couldn't cure.

The divorcee who told him he'd never "be sorry" wrote from Winston-Salem, N.C., while the woman who sent photographs of herself dressed in a bikini up to an overcoat wrote from Rochester, N.Y.

When he received the award last Wednesday from the State Court of Claims, Dennison said simply:

"Now I'd like to get married."

He figures that and the money provoked the phone calls and letters, which have come from such places as Houston, San Diego and St. Petersburg, among others.

Some Propose Deals

Dennison said some of the letter writers were men proposing business deals, such as the one from Poulton, Vt., that offered him a $4,000 real-estate bargain "worth $8,000."

Dennison was freed in 1960 after his half-brother, George, became convinced that Stephen was not insane and hired two lawyers in this Hudson River city to work in his behalf.

Judge Richard S. Heller, who awarded the sum, said, in a scathing, eloquent decision:

"In a sense, society labels him as sub-human, placed him in a cage with genuine sub-humans, drove him insane, and then used the insanity as an excuse for holding him indefinitely."

Meanwhile, Dennison is drawing unemployment checks and says he plans to put the $115,000 into U.S. Savings Bonds.

Pinscher Too Fast

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Retired banker Richard S. Burnett thought a good way to get exercise would be to raise dogs. But Heidi, his 22-month-old Doberman Pinscher, has a more vigorous gait than Burnett had in mind.

So every morning Heidi trots alongside Burnett's car and the only exercise he gets is holding her on a leash out the window.

Sorosis Sets Activities; Hears Travelogue On Portugal and Spain at Monday Meeting

Sorosis of Kingston met Monday, March 21, in the home of Mrs. Fred Ertel, Mrs. William Ochs led devotions with thoughts on the power of words for good and evil.

Mrs. William Rylance announced the county meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs to be held on April 21 at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Mrs. Arthur Eymann will take reservations for the luncheon. Mrs. John Frenssen, Mrs. William Ochs, and Mrs. Thomas Reynolds Sr. will attend as delegates.

Mrs. William McVey, arts and crafts committee chairman, reported on the fashion show to be given at the meeting on April 18. Girls from the Kingston High School commercial and home economics sewing classes will model the dresses they made and entered in the sewing contest sponsored by Sorosis.

Following the business meeting, Howard St. John showed colored slides of his visit to Portugal and Spain timed to be in Seville during Holy Week. He had taken pictures of the various styles of architecture showing how these countries had been influenced by their conquerors of the past—bridges and aqueducts built by the Romans, mosques and fortified palaces built by the Moors with many views of the Alhambra, ancient palace at Granada, showing the exquisite plaster moldings which cover the interior walls and ceiling. The magnificent wood carved altar in the cathedral at the medieval city of Toledo was an outstanding picture.

Mr. St. John said the warm coastal area of both countries is rapidly becoming a popular winter vacation playground for the people of the Northern European countries. But along the road to the modern hotels and motels he had photographed people riding in wooden-wheeled carts drawn by donkeys.

DINNER PARTY SEATING FOR ENGAGED COUPLE

Q: My husband and I are giving a dinner party in honor of an engaged couple. I would like to know where they should be seated at the table. I know that ordinarily the male guest of honor is seated on the right of the hostess and the female guest of honor on the right of the host, but somehow it doesn't seem right to me to separate an engaged couple. Will you please advise me on this matter?

A: In ordinary circumstances an engaged couple do sit together but if you are giving a formal dinner for them, it would be best to follow the rule for guests of honor and seat the man on your right and his fiancée on your husband's right.

Bride Wearing Simple Afternoon Dress

Q: My daughter is going to be married in church. However, she is not going to wear a wedding dress. She has chosen a simple afternoon dress and hat instead. I would like to know if it would be proper to send engraved invitations to a general list of friends and acquaintances to witness the ceremony. Or, since she is not dressing as a bride, should the ceremony be restricted to family and closest friends?

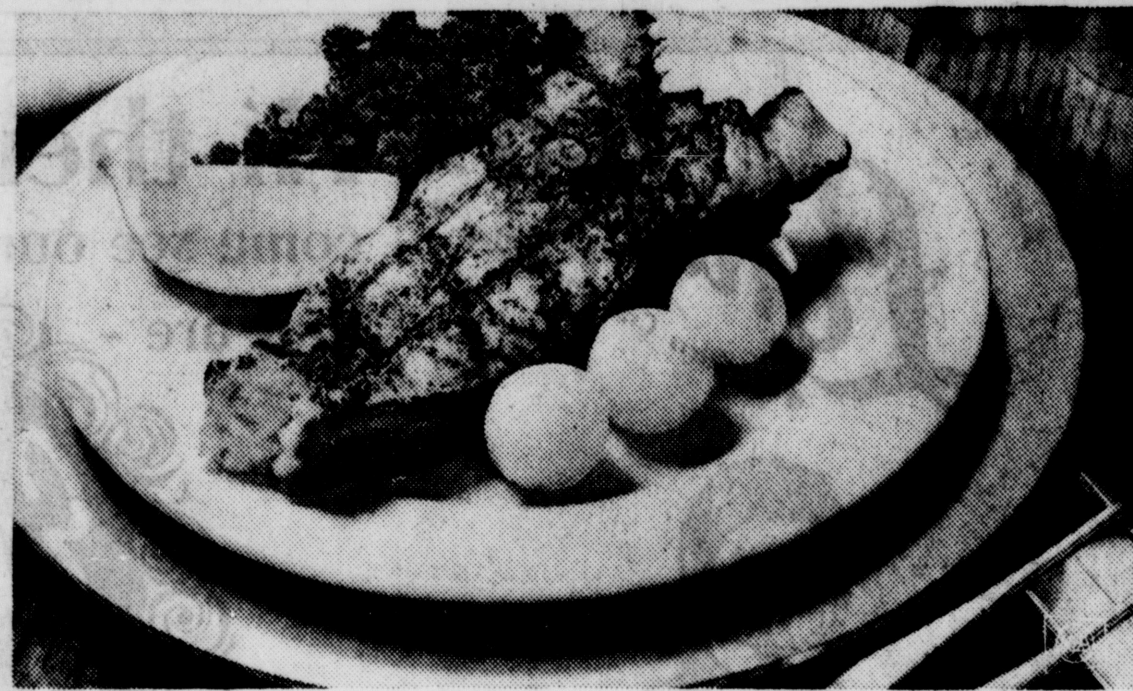

A: Although engraved invitations do suggest a somewhat more formal wedding, there is nothing really improper about sending them. However, I feel that for this sort of simple wedding, it would be more appropriate to send hand-written notes to members of the family and to the closest friends of the bride and groom.

Husband Not Wearing Dinner Jacket

Q: Every year my husband and I attend a large charity dinner dance. The women mostly wear short cocktail dresses but there are some who wear long dresses. I have a sleeveless white crepe sheath dress, very simple, with a long skirt. Would it be proper for me to wear this dress in view of the fact that my husband will not be in a dinner jacket?

A: If your husband isn't going to wear a dinner jacket, you will be more appropriately dressed in short skirt. Remember that the smart woman underdresses rather than overdresses. Girl Scout News

Kingston Neighborhood Association of Girl Scout Adults held its monthly meeting at St. James Church Thursday.

Topics on the agenda included a discussion of the proposed changes in the council by-laws to be voted on at the annual council meeting at the Hurley Reformed Church Tuesday, April 19.

Mrs. Robert Pomeroy, chairman of the Girl Scout American Exposition to be held on May 7 at the Kingston Armory, spoke to the group outlining the rules concerning the exposition and requested that each troop planning to take part please turn in their information forms by March 31, as an aid to the committee in setting up floor plans for the show.

Plans are under way for a day trip to Camp Wendy Saturday, May 21. Leaders will notify neighborhood chairman, Mrs. John Murdoch, if they plan to attend. Reservations will be made on a first come, first serve basis, and must be in by March 31.

The Neighborhood Service Team presented a comic skit entitled A Day at Camp Denny and included a viewing of slides showing the many interesting activities usually carried on at Camp Wendy. Leaders also received their camp applications to be distributed to girls wishing to attend camp this summer.

Participating in the skit were the Mmes. John Murdoch, Kenneth Schupp, Olav Sande, Robert Knieciak and Horace L. Brown. Mrs. Sande introduced former leader, Mrs. Donald Woods, who led the group in singing a group of old time scout favorite songs.

Refreshments were served by the leaders of St. James Troops, Mrs. Kenneth Dittus, Miss Martha Eddy and Mrs. Francis Fagan.

The Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts is an active participating member of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Brownies Tour Station

Brownie Troop 17 sponsored by Chambers School recently toured radio station WGHQ. The scouts were guided by Herb Shein, program director of the station who showed them the record library, the "open mike" room, and other interesting things such as the way tapes are made, how the various tapes are selected and combined into a program of interest to the people. Mr. Shein also explained how electricity carries sound waves from the broadcasting room to the home. Mrs. Joseph Iannotti and Mrs. Willard Goodheim accompanied the group to the station.

Give Historical Program

Girl Scout Troop 187, sponsored by the Bloomington Fire Company held an open house community historical meeting recently. The scouts are working on the My Community Badge. The Bloomington area is a part of the location of the old D and H Canal, once a vital industrial link, and has many historical homes in the area and the town.

A panel of guests were invited to speak about the history and folk lore of the area. Guest

Grilled Dover Sole With Herb Butter

Broil 4 cleaned and lightly salted Dover sole under moderate heat for 10 to 12 minutes or until center bones can easily be removed. (Use 1-inch-thick steak of turbot.) Before serving, pour tarragon butter over broiled fish. Serve with lemon wedges.

Halibut steaks are a good substitute for imported turbot.

Reflections on an Error

John A. Schneider, new No. 3 man in the CBS power hierarchy recently canceled his newsmen's plan for television broadcast of a Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing on the Viet Nam war—a daytime question-and-answer session with our top expert on Chinese-Russian affairs, ex-Ambassador George Kennan.

The Schneider reason? "The housewife isn't interested."

Do you wonder what the Schneider notion of a "housewife" is? I do. I think it's either one of those crazy creatures in his commercials who go into visible decline at the sight of a neighbor's whiter, fluffier laundry or one of their tiger-rug sirens so eager for the deodorization of the American male. On the other hand he might have confused the American housewife with the actress mother who screams on cue at the actor child until an announcer reminds her she needs one of their sponsor's pills.

Ah, well, I expect the television tycoon business is very rough on the sense of reality. After all, the executive suite is away up there and down here its world is apt to be bounded by Sardi's East, the suburban home, the big Cadillac and session with its rating people on the comparative pulls of ad agency models who play at being an American housewife. It's a pretty overprotected life.

So maybe CBS's new executive power can't help thinking you and I are as fluffly-headed as speakers included Mrs. Greta Hotaling, Mrs. Ora Sagar, Mrs. Hildebrandt, Mrs. Margaret Johnston, John Bordenstein Sr., Martin Costello, Jerome Mack and Earl Mack, a member of the D&H Historical Society.

The guest speakers also brought with them a very interesting collection of maps, books, newspapers and other articles of interest for display. Frank Yonnetti, also sent some items for display.

Refreshments were served to the group by members of Brownie Troop 171, assisted by Mrs. Joan Machione and Mrs. Violet McElrath. Leader of Troops 187 and 171 is Mrs. Joan McElrath.

Dear Abby . . .

Writing on the Wall Spells 'Trouble'

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A co-worker has taken up the hobby of analyzing handwriting. I never believed in things like that, so when she asked me for a sample of my handwriting, I just laughed and said, "No thanks, skip me." Well, she got hold of my handwriting from an office memo and went ahead and analyzed it anyway. She told our co-workers that my handwriting revealed "criminal tendencies" and that I was "over-sexed." Abby, I have never been arrested in my life, not even for a traffic violation. And in my 30 years of marriage I have never been unfaithful. How does an innocent person defend himself against such insults.

DEAR VIRGIL: Accusations of this kind are extremely damaging to one's reputation. Tell her there is a law against making such statements, and it is called slander. And if she can read the handwriting on the wall, she had better analyze that in a hurry and either provide proof for her statements or retract them.

DEAR ABBY: We live in an apartment and the walls are quite thin. The people next door have an 11-year-old son who takes piano lessons. Every time the kid doesn't do something right, his punishment is extra practice time on the piano. This kid has been doing an awful lot of extra time lately, and it's usually on Saturday and Sunday mornings when we would like to sleep. Should we say something to them about this disturbance? Don't tell me to report it to the landlord. They own the building.

NO MUSIC LOVER

DEAR NO: If the practice session begins unreasonably early in the morning, tell them. It's their privilege to punish their son, but not their neighbors.

Highlight of the all-day conference will be the balloting for state president of CISGA, an organization of all two-year units of the State University that considers common interests and problems of student governments, Region II, which includes Adirondack through Rockland Community Colleges, names the state president for 1966 under an annual rotation plan among the state's five CISGA regions.

Named Physical Director for YM

DAVID W. PETERSON
The appointment of David W. Peterson of Athens, Ga., as physical director of Kingston YMCA was announced today.

He succeeds Charles H. Bud Sims, who held the post two years and resigned in September to accept a similar position with the Rochester association in the Arnett Branch.

Peterson, originally from Minneapolis, Minn., is the son of an Army officer and has lived in Germany, Japan and Hawaii as well as all over the continental United States. Before moving to Kingston he lived in Athens, Ga., where he attended the University of Georgia, graduating on March 14.

His previous YMCA experience consists of two years of part-time work at the YMCA in Athens, Ga. The Athens "Y" has one of the best youth programs in the country and Peterson hopes to use the knowledge and experience gained there in helping the Kingston YMCA expand its youth program.

Peterson was also employed in various capacities at YMCA Camp Letts in Washington, D. C. the summers of 1963, 1964 and 1965. Here he worked under the new general secretary of Kingston "Y," Robert D. Stubbs.

Peterson had offers from many other YMCA's up and down the east coast but chose Kingston because of the fine opportunity existing here. Other than his "Y" work Peterson has an avid interest in the world of sports as a spectator and participant. He is single, 22 years of age and is presently residing at 257 Greenkill Avenue.

Bankers Race Clock

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Commercial bankers were in a race against time today in an effort to persuade the Legislature to approve a bill that would enable savings banks to convert to commercial status.

Spokesmen for commercial banks told the Joint Legislative Committee on Revision of the Banking Laws Wednesday that they favored the proposal in order to stop savings banks from "poaching" on services now only offered by commercial banks.

The legislative committee, however, will expire next week. Committee members said they

No Stranger to Players

Ashford, First Negro Umpire, Outstanding in Coast League

SIDELINE VIEWS

By ED PALLADINO

If the DUSO Basketball coaches hadn't picked their all-star team via telephone poll, we would suspect, and with good reason, their selections were made under the influence of a drink much stronger than soda pop.

Among the names appearing on the first team was that of Art Robertson of Newburgh Free Academy. Those who followed the Goldbacks most of the season know that Robertson was not a starter, did not appear in every game and was bounced from the squad near the end of the year.

A REAL FARCE
The DUSO Sportswriters and Broadcasters Assn., which has been picking All-Star teams for many more years than the coaches, didn't even consider Robertson, who couldn't start on the championship Newburgh team because coach Joe Gaspard didn't deem him good enough.

Yet, the circuit coaches, who have often disagreed with the scribes in picking All-Star squads, made this year's team a real farce with Robertson's name.

In checking the Kingston High scorebook, we find Robertson played the second half the first time and less than a quarter in the second game between the clubs. Does that entitle him to All-DUSO recognition? We hardly think so.

THAT SECTION NINE FIASCO

What other section in New York State can run a basketball tournament as poorly as Section Nine? The A and B divisions had five teams entered. The logical way to give one of the clubs a bye would be by a flip of the coin.

But, Section Nine is different. The committee decided that Valley Central of the Orange County league was the weakest of the five clubs in Class A so the Vikings drew a bye. Not only did the committee not flip a coin, but instead of giving the stronger team the bye, it made its own rules. The case was the same in the B division and again it was an Orange County team—Warwick—which was awarded a bye.

PUBLICITY

Again, Section Nine lags far behind the other sections in the State in the important matter of publicity. Most newspapers had to call two or three persons in order to obtain schedules and other pertinent information on the tourney.

Did you know that the Kingston High cheerleaders had to change on the bus the night the locals played Clarkstown in Newburgh? It seems the girls weren't notified by anyone that they should dress at their home school because dressing room facilities would not be provided.

The tournament itself was a good one because there were more clubs represented. However, why doesn't New York State come out of the rock ages and enable Sectional winners to advance even further? Wouldn't an annual state tournament give the clubs something to shoot for?

COACH OF THE YEAR

Section Nine chairmen received notice from the Executive Secretary of the New York State High School Coaches Assn. that it was unanimously voted to select Coach of the Year in all sports. Section Nine would be allocated two Coaches of the Year as candidates for State honors.

Thereupon, these learned gentlemen from this section promptly tabled the recommendation at a meeting early in February and then three weeks later, did not endorse the principles of the Coach of the Year award and voted not to participate in this venture.

Aside from the fact they are working with youth and trying to help them become good citizens, what rewards do the coaches derive from their work? Yes, there is money but the monetary rewards are small.

We feel the section did wrong in turning down the state's recommendation. But, the moguls who run this section seem to have something against going modern. We hope they come out of the caves, take a deep breath of fresh air and try to advance forward.

Progress is being made everywhere but in this section. What a shame.

Report Rocky Ready to Sign Bill on Quarter Horse Races

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller was reported ready today to sign a measure to authorize pari-mutuel betting on quarter horses in the state, if the bill passes the Assembly.

The measure slipped through the Senate Wednesday, 33-24, and was sent to the Assembly, where its chances of passage appeared about even. The bill barely gained the 33 votes needed for passage, with most of the support coming from Republicans. A similar measure failed last year by two votes.

During the debate, Sen. Seymour Thaler, D-Queens, charged that William Pfeiffer, chief political adviser to the Republican governor, had telephoned GOP senators to urge them to vote for the bill.

Senate Majority Leader Earl Brydges, the Legislature's top Republican, said Thaler's remarks were "uncalled for," while Sen. Nathan Proler, R-Glens Falls, charged Thaler with "playing cheap politics" in his opposition tactics.

Pfeiffer, meanwhile, could not be reached for comment. Under provisions of the measure, no quarter horse track could be operated within 25 miles of a thoroughbred or harness track.

The measure's sponsors, William T. Smith, R-Big Flats, and William C. Thompson, D-Brooklyn, estimated the state would gain $3 million annually in tax revenue from the tracks. Opponents held that the quarter horse tracks would drain revenue from existing harness and flat tracks.

Quarter horses are a recognized breed, noted for the ability to run swiftly for a short distance, a quarter-mile.

Umpires Have Styles
"You know," Ashford mused, "there is a lot to the statement about baseball being a man's game, but there is a lot of boy in those who play the game."

"This is a game of fun," he said. "It is exciting, whether you're umpiring or playing."

Emmett feels that umpires have "styles."

When you walk into a ball park and see an umpire working behind the plate you can generally identify him just from the way he calls a game.

Emmett leaves no doubt about what call he has made and even the fan in the last row of the bleachers can tell at a glance. Recently, Ashford met with League President Joseph Cronin and supervisor of umpires Cal Hubbard.

"They didn't tell me to alter my style," he said. "And I'm very happy about that. It's the only way I can work."

Favorite With Fans
"I left that meeting feeling very encouraged," he said. "Everybody was nice. And nobody criticized my style or told me to get formal, so to speak."

"They were concerned for the fans — to keep them informed and keep the games lively and moving right along."

Ashford was a favorite among Pacific Coast League fans. He is a fast-moving, lively, decisive individual. He is noted for his ability to get down the first and third base lines while working behind the plate. Or deep into center field on fly balls when working the bases, or over to the dugouts in a flash when his presence is required.

Toughest calls for an umpire to make, Ashford claims, include the "bang-bang" play at first base and the question of an inside pitch hitting the batter after it strikes the bat.

About the "bang-bang" play at first base, he says, "You've got to get the bangs in order."

Howard Bombs 508-Ft. Homer

Giant Slugger Ready for Opener With Senators

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Howard is ready to head north; Dave Nicholson hopes for a trip south.

They met before starting their respective travels, and the result was a 13-7 exhibition victory for Houston over Washington Wednesday.

Nicholson drove in six runs with two homers for the Astros while Howard unloaded a 508-foot homer for the Senators.

The homer was the first of the spring for the monstrous Howard, but the previous lack of the long ball hasn't bothered the outfielder, who has been spraying enough other hits.

"I'm ready to go north," the 6-foot-7, 255-pounder said. "I wish the season was starting now. I've never felt this way before so early."

Nicholson, on the other hand, would like to feel that his lousy performance against the Senators will help get him headed south—from Oklahoma City to Houston.

Trying to Win Job

The 26-year-old Nicholson is trying to win a job in the Astro outfield, but he is on the roster of Houston's Pacific Coast League farm team at Oklahoma City.

"I'm getting about a hit a game, and I'm not striking out as much," the one-time bonus baby said. "At least they (the Astros) keep playing me. I hope that means something."

The Astros picked up Nicholson from the Chicago White Sox for whom he hit only 153 with two homers and 12 runs batted in last year. While with Chicago in 1963 Nicholson set a major league record by striking out 175 times.

In helping Houston overcome Howard's homer for Washington plus two by Don Lock, Nicholson belted a grand slam in the third inning and connected again with one on in the ninth. John Bateman and Jim Wynn also homered for the Astros.

The White Sox and Detroit extended their winning streaks Wednesday, Chicago edging Cincinnati 4-3 for its sixth straight and the Tigers nipping Atlanta 3-2 for their seventh in a row.

Vada Pinson and Deron Johnson homered for Cincinnati, but the White Sox won in the ninth on Tom McCraw's run-scoring single. Detroit scored unearned runs in the first and third innings, then won in the sixth on Jim Northrup's triple and a single by Don Wert.

Mets Win Eighth

The New York Mets increased their record to 8-3, rallying for five unearned runs in the ninth inning and a 7-6 victory over Pittsburgh. Bill Mazeroski's error started the rally, and Jim Hickman's two-out, run-scoring single capped it.

Minnesota edged Philadelphia 5-4 on Rick Renick's ninth-inning homer while eighth-inning homers by Clete Boyer and Bobby Murcer gave the New York Yankees an 8-6 verdict over Boston.

Bill Eryan drove in four runs with a homer and a single, leading Kansas City past Baltimore

Pocomoonshine Grabs Feature at Yonkers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six-year-old Pocomoonshine came from third at the top of the stretch to capture the $5,500 Mamaroneck Pace at Yonkers Raceway, highlighting Wednesday night's harness racing in New York State.

Rockey Babe won the featured $1,500 pace by 1½ lengths at Batavia Downs.

Pocomoonshine paced to victory a neck ahead of Special Hanover in 2:03 3-5. There was a dead heat for third in the mile event, matching Pinehaven Flash and Flying Gypsy.

Pocomoonshine returned $10.00, $5.80 and $3.60.

At Batavia Downs, Rockey Babe defeated Ray Adios and returned $7.20, $4.40 and $3.00. Jimmie Bond was third in the mile, timed in 2:09.

Cassius Threatens to Retire If Upset by George Chuvalo

TORONTO (AP) — A suddenly modest Cassius Clay says he'll retire if George Chuvalo strips him of his heavyweight title next Tuesday night.

"I'd have to retire," he said Wednesday after sparring eight rounds in preparation for his 15-round scrap against the Canadian champion from Toronto.

"Once I lose, that's it." But there seems little chance of that happening. Clay is a lopsided favorite.

One Toronto bookie said a few small operators are taking bets with Clay a 6-1 favorite.

"But the big bookies, and I mean the really big guys, want no part of it," he said.

Murray Goodman of New York, a spokesman for Main Bout Inc., which owns the closed-circuit television rights, said 39 sites in the United States and Canada have been lined up so far for showings. He estimated total capacity at 210,000 and said a gross of $500,000 is likely to be added to the promotional pot.

No Live Television

There will be no live TV of the fight, which begins at 10:30 p.m. EST, but it will be carried live on the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. radio network.

fornia 4-3 on Ron Santo's sacrifice fly in the ninth inning, and Cleveland trimmed San Francisco 2-1 on run-scoring singles by Fred Whitfield and Max Alvis in the ninth.

Clay, who usually brags about his fighting ability and predicts his knockout rounds, has been surprisingly quiet and modest since setting up training camp here last Friday.

He sat in his dressing room and explained why.

"The people here in Canada were nice enough to have me. I'm fighting one of their boys. He's a nice boy and I have nothing against him."

He said he pops off only because he's the target of criticism because of his religious beliefs. Clay is a member of the Black Muslims.

He was the object of considerable criticism over his recent remarks concerning the U.S. role in Viet Nam. He made them at the time his draft board was reclassifying him and making him eligible for Army duty.

"I got a lot of letters after my Viet Nam remarks," he said. "They said I was yellow. I was a coward. But they didn't leave any address. I read them all and just laughed."

The number of outlets for closed-circuit TV was a sharp drop from the more than 200 originally lined up for the Clay-Ernie Terrell bout, but Clay said a purse reduction does not bother him unduly.

Regan Important Man With LA

With Don, Sandy Gone He Could Be Dodger's Hope

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The Los Angeles fans who had been clamoring for the Dodgers to make a trade for a hitter were disappointed last winter when the only deal the world champions made was for Detroit Pitcher Phil Regan.

But the transaction that sent utility infielder Dick Tracewski to the Tigers has taken on added significance this spring because Dodger stars Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale are holding out.

And Drysdale reaffirmed that he and Koufax definitely will be among the missing this season unless they are given a substantial raise.

"Buzzie is right—we won't sign for the figures they've offered," Drysdale told newsmen Wednesday. "And we believe them when they say they're not going to raise their offer."

Bavasi Convinced

The day before, Dodger General Manager E.J. (Bavasi) told newsmen:

"Unless I am naive and have been taken in, I have to believe they won't sign."

Drysdale also told newsmen the Dodgers' top offers have been $85,000 for him and $100,000 for Koufax, instead of higher figures reported by their attorney.

The other National League clubs have made no secret that they can think of more unpleasant things than not having to face Koufax and Drysdale this season, and that's where the Dodgers feel Regan's importance comes in.

Regan, a 28-year-old right-hander, was a 15-game winner at Detroit as lately as 1963 and that's a distinction only two Dodgers can claim.

Of the pitchers in uniform today, only one has ever won more games than that—veteran left-hander Johnny Podres. And only one other has ever won as many as 15—southpaw Claude Osteen.

Shines Against Cards

So there was much interest in Regan Wednesday as he allowed St. Louis one run and two hits in three innings. The Cardinals went on to hand the Dodgers a 6-1 defeat, their third loss in a row and their ninth in 11 starts this spring.

Regan, a 6-foot-3, 200-pounder, has been tremendously impressive this spring, allowing two runs and 10 hits in 10 innings.

"The thing I like most about him," said pitching coach Harold (Lefty) Phillips, "is that he gets the ball over the plate. And he has better stuff than I was led to expect."

In the absence of Koufax and Drysdale, the Dodgers have only two certain starters, Osteen and Podres. But Regan has moved into contest Don Sutton, Joe Moeller, Nick Willhite and Bill Singer for the remaining front-line berths.

Batavia Keglers Lead ABC Teams

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A barrage of high scorers shot down the regular and booster team division leaders Wednesday at the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Ange's Roman Room of Batavia, N.Y., moved up to first place in the regular standings with a 3043 series while the B&T Sports Shop of Fulton, N.Y., took command of the booster division with 2688.

The Roman Room quintet rolled games of 990, 1040 and 1004 as Dick Martino, a 26-year-old assembly line worker, set the pace with 693.

Heileman Old Style of Milwaukee, the regular leading since Sunday with 2916, dropped to third as Flower City Vending of Rochester, N.Y., claimed second place with 2918.

The new booster leaders had games of 827, 895 and 966, barely outdistancing Lincoln Rochester No. 3 of Rochester, N.Y., which had led the low-average category since the opening night with 2685.

The singles, doubles and all-events leaders were not threatened Wednesday.

Don Ecott of Rochester, N.Y., and Joseph Decario of Schenectady, N.Y., tied for 14th place in the singles with 641, far off the 724 pace set Sunday by Bill Williamson of Fostoria, Ohio.

Bob Carney and John Verra, of Schenectady had the day's best doubles total, 1177. Jerry Albert and Dick Goepel of Milwaukee lead the two-man standings with 1303.

Predict Bankruptcy If Braves Lose Suit

By HARRY CHANDLER

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller got a look at the other side of the coin Wednesday as depositions of the two top Braves' executives became a part of the trial record in Wisconsin's antitrust suit against baseball.

The gray-haired, poker-faced magistrate has been asked by the state to order the Braves to return to Milwaukee this season unless another National League franchise is awarded the city.

But the defense told Judge Roller that to do so would be a financial catastrophe for the Braves.

Baseball attorneys quoted from a deposition of Braves' President John McHale in an effort to show the effect of such an order on the club which now calls Atlanta its home.

"It would be disastrous," McHale said in the deposition. "It would bankrupt the Braves' organization."

Braves Board Chairman William C. Bartholomay was quoted as saying he never received a "bona fide" offer from any Wisconsin resident to purchase the baseball team. He said efforts to interest Wisconsin investors to share equally with his group in stock ownership of the club shortly after its purchase in 1962 were unsuccessful.

Public Sale Fizzled

He added that an offering of Braves' stock at public sale to Wisconsin residents also had "disappointing" results early in 1963. Of the 115,000 shares offered at $11.37½ per share, between 13,000 and 14,000 shares were purchased.

"In your opinion, why didn't the stock sell?" Bartholomay was asked.

"No interest," he replied. "Bartholomay's statement recited the factors which influenced his recommendation to the club's board of directors in October 1964 to seek a transfer from Milwaukee to Atlanta."

He said he was "terribly disappointed" that commitments to the club by business leaders in a season ticket sale for 1964 were not met. Bartholomay said the group had pledged to sell 7,500 season tickets but the campaign sold only 4,391. Of these, he said, the Braves' sales team, which included several players and Manager Bobby Bragan, accounted for all but 482.

Attendance Slump

Other factors listed by Bartholomay included: slumping attendance, decrease in broadcast revenue, four major league franchises in the Chicago-Milwaukee-Minneapolis area, hostility by local politicians and the press, a general decline in sports interest in Milwaukee, the club's financial situation, a per capita income less than that of the other teams in the league, and the failure of the county to end ticket hawking around the stadium.

The defense has several more depositions for prominent baseball figures, including National League club owners, to be read into the record in question-and-answer form.

Baseball is using this format to reply to Wisconsin's charge that by approving the Braves' transfer to Atlanta, the National League exerted monopolistic powers to boycott Milwaukee as

Chamberlain Has Five New Records

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Wilt Chamberlain, who led the Philadelphia 76ers to the Eastern Division championship, set five more individual records in the National Basketball Association this season.

The final regular season statistics, released today, show that the 7-foot-1 Big Dipper finished as the leading scorer for the seventh consecutive season with 2,649 points for 79 games, an average of 33.5.

This was one of the five new records set by the league's most valuable player for 1966. The other four were highest field goal percentage .540; most consecutive games, no disqualification on personals 543; most seasons with over 2,000 points scored, seven; and NBA career scoring total 21,486 in seven seasons.

Sikes Is Favored At Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Big Three, Arnold Palmer, passed up this tourney.

Among the less heralded contenders, Jacky Cupit of Longview, Tex., is playing well and proved it when he matched Sikes' 66 score and $462.50 paycheck in the pro-am.

Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La., won the Citrus Open at Orlando last Sunday and is another hot contender.

"I've played this course so many times I couldn't count them, and I've had several 66s," Sikes said after tying for first among the pros in a pro-am preliminary Wednesday with a six-under-par 66.

"I'll probably wish I'd saved some of those birdies for the next four days, though," he said, noting that the $462.50 he collected is considerably less than the $13,500 prize in the 72-hole event.

Sikes, a 35-year-old former University of Florida golf captain who joined the pro tour six years ago after getting a law degree, figures there isn't a spot his ball could land on the 6,906-yard Selva Marina course that would be strange to him.

Trained Weaver
He finished two strokes behind the winner, Bert Weaver of Broadwater Beach, Miss., last year — first time for the touring pros at Selva Marina.

Weaver is eager to repeat, something he did often in his amateur days.
But these two will have to hustle to beat out Jack Nicklaus, Masters champion from Columbus, Ohio, and Gary Player, U.S. Open champion from South Africa. Both are trying for their first title on this year's tour after a series of head-to-head events in Africa.

President Ready To Propose New Rights Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is ready to propose new civil rights legislation dealing with housing, schools and public facilities.

The administration's proposed civil rights act of 1966, which faces a tough election-year battle in Congress, has been on Johnson's desk for at least two weeks. There has been no explanation of his delay in transmitting it, along with a message, to Capitol Hill.

Early Hearings Likely

Johnson and Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach have given several members of Congress private previews of the bill. And once it's submitted, Chairman Emanuel Celler of the House Judiciary Committee is expected to call immediate hearings, at which Katzenbach will be the leadoff administration witness.

Should the bill become law—either in its present form or as more likely in an altered version—it would be the third package of civil rights legislation enacted by Congress in as many years.

The 1964 Civil Rights Act forbade racial discrimination in places of public accommodation and put new teeth in laws against discrimination in voting and public education. The 1965 Voting Rights Act has resulted in the first-time registration of more than 100,000 Southern Negroes. Both laws have been upheld in their key provisions by the Supreme Court.

According to sources who have seen the latest proposal, its chief provisions run along these lines:

Chief Provisions

Housing: Racial discrimination in the sale or rental of all housing—old and new, even if privately financed—would be banned.

While the attorney general could bring suit where he found a pattern and practice of discrimination, the normal remedy would be for the prospective buyer or renter to bring suit against the seller or landlord accused of discrimination.

Such legislation, which is expected to stir sharp controversy in Congress, would theoretically open up previously all-white suburbs to Negroes, assuming the Negroes could afford to move.

Juries: The administration proposal would be directed at both state and federal jury systems in an effort to end the all-white juries that prevail in many parts of the South.

Where there was evidence of a violation, the Justice Department could ask a federal court to establish and enforce non-discriminatory jury selection standards for the offending circuit or county.

Intimidation: This provision would make it a federal crime — with penalties graduated to fit the nature of a specific crime — to harm or intimidate persons attempting to desegregate public facilities.

It also would empower the attorney general to initiate court action to end harassment or intimidation of Negro pupils (or their parents) who are attempting to attend previously all-white schools.

Bell Found Guilty

Franklin J. Bell, 37, of 88 Hasbrouck Avenue, was found guilty of endangering the life and health of a child this afternoon after trial before Special City Judge George A. Beck. He had been booked on two counts, but the other was dismissed for lack of evidence. Police said after the arrest, that girls under 16 years old had been involved in the complaints. Attorney Joseph J. Qualtere, assigned by the court, appeared for Bell and Assistant District Attorney James H. Fisher for the prosecution.

3 Merged Papers Await Federal Sanction of Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Owners of three New York papers hope to effect their announced merger perhaps within a week of receiving Justice Department clearance.

That announcement was made by John Green, assistant business manager of the World-Telegram and the Sun, after publisher's representative from the three papers met Wednesday with members of the AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild's negotiating committee.

Plan Single Staff

It was also learned that the publishers plan to operate with a single staff and house all departments except advertising in the World-Telegram plant. The Sunday paper would be put out at the Herald Tribune plant.

Thomas J. Murphy, Guild executive vice president, said the Guild hopes to keep "a maximum number of jobs," and that seniority would be adhered to "if there is any justification for cutting off anyone."

Some 1,800 Guild members are among the 5,700 persons employed at the World-Telegram, the Journal-American and the Herald Tribune.

Need New Contract

All three papers have been working under terms of an expired contract while negotiations continue on a new one. Murphy again stated that there must be full agreement before the new company can go into operation.

The three papers filed notice Tuesday with the Justice Department that they planned to merge into one firm to publish one afternoon paper, the World Journal; one Sunday paper, the World Journal and Tribune; and one morning paper, the Herald Tribune.

Virginia Hill Is Found Dead, Was 'Bugsy's' Friend

SALZBURG, Austria (AP) — Virginia Hill, once a girlfriend of Bugsy Siegel and other American underworld figures, was found dead near here today.

Police, who gave her age as 50, said there were no indications of foul play but because of her background they ordered an autopsy.

Police said her body was found by strollers on a path running parallel to a brook at a nearby village of Koppi this morning.

She had been living here with her Austrian husband, ski instructor Hans Hauser, for the past 12 years.

She made headlines in Los Angeles in 1954 when she was indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of evading $80,180 in federal income tax payments.

It was in her Beverly Hills home that Siegel was pumped full of bullets from a high-powered rifle June 29, 1947.

Dr. Peale and Mr. Case, have been close friends for many years.

Claim B-52s . . .

know it is under attack until it has already happened.

The targets are selected here and SAC takes it from there. The bombers' sophisticated instruments are more accurate than human skill, senior Air Force officers maintain. The B-52s can "drop their loads onto a rain barrel."

One of the favorite targets has been in the 3rd Corps area 35 miles or so north of Saigon — the "D Zone" and the notorious "iron triangle." They've hit the area 46 times and have gouged such huge holes in the fantastically tangled jungle that Allied troops are able to operate there in comparative security for the first time.

Keeps Pot Boiling

There have been strikes along the Cambodian border and farther north just a mile or two from Laos — aimed at infiltration routes from the Ho Chi Minh Trail. In the central highlands near the frontier, the B-52s have slammed one area 20 times. Intelligence reported this kept the pot boiling in base camps where new arrivals from the North were being mustered.

The strikes have ranged all the way up north to the 17th Parallel, the border between South and North Vietnam — but no B-52s have crossed it.

Only two B-52s have been lost in the campaign, in a collision on the way to the first raid. The enemy hasn't got the weapon to get at the B-52s, so barring mechanical trouble the raids from Guam and the return trip are truly milk runs.

Adjusted for Tunnels

The bombs have been adjusted on some raids to pierce the deep tunnels the Viet Cong have dug. The fuses are timed so that the huge bombs pierce the earth to a depth of 15 feet before exploding.

On one fast March 2 over Phuoc Tuy, a forward air controller coasted over the area in his tiny spotter plane and reported four caves destroyed and all the trails cratered. At Bien Hoa, another spotter found a tunnel labyrinth destroyed, another one collapsed, and 30 defensive positions and a trench system exposed.

The 1st Infantry Division found concrete evidence of the might of the big bombers recently in the rough jungle after moving in found all the underground destroyed up to 100 yards from the bomb craters.

The infantry captured 1,400 tons of rice, enough to feed six Viet Cong regiments for six months; 20 tons of peanuts, a month's supply for six regiments; and 33 tons of salt, supply for a month and a half. That was in January.

Strikes Evaluated

In February, the B-52s returned to the D Zone and the infantry followed again. This time they got 350 tons of rice, 68 tons of peanuts, 15 tons of salt, seven trucks, and 5,500 gallons of fuel.

Here's the way high U.S. officials evaluate the strikes:

Firemen Answer Calls

Local firemen checked a trash barrel fire on Grand Street near Adlington Place, and answered another call to Main Street Wednesday night. The first call was at 7:30 p. m. with a unit from Central Station responding, and the second at 7:40 p. m. was for burning grease in an oven at the home of Leonard Kronick, 324 Main Street. Units from Wiltwyck and Central stations answered the latter. The fire was out on their arrival.

Will Back Air

Schwartz and Holcomb for their support of the program.

Senator Lloyd A. Newcombe in his reply to letters from Drs. Schwartz and Holcomb said, "I am in agreement with your position and will support the program along with those which involve pure water, as I believe that such measures are vital to the welfare of the state."

Senator Newcombe said he is always interested in knowing how the people of the district feel about these issues, when they arise, particularly when the opinions are those of professional people who are familiar with all the aspects of the situation.

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson in reply to letters from the TB and Health Association officers said in part, "I certainly share your concern over the problems of air pollution and agree that stringent measures must be taken towards the control of this problem." He added, "Please be advised that I will lend my full support to the current legislation designed to further the control of air pollution in New York State."

In their letters to Governor Rockefeller, Senator Newcombe and Assemblyman Wilson, Drs. Schwartz and Holcomb said they were concerned with legislation currently in preparation for the expansion of the Air Pollution Control Program and budget and that they are aware of the strong position the Governor, Senator and Assemblyman have taken in support of effective air pollution action.

Drs. Schwartz and Holcomb said in their letters, "Personally, as chest physicians, and as officers of our Ulster County TB and Health Association, we join with our Association Board and workers in an urgent appeal for Air Pollution legislation that will meet the recognized need for stringent control. Arising out of our 50 years of voluntary health work in respiratory illnesses, we all share in a deep concern with current increased levels of respiratory disease. The current legislation must provide the strength and adequate financing required to make the New York Air Pollution program an effective force in cleaning up and controlling the air we all must breathe."

Claims Jeep Offers Added Safety Factors

The added safety factors present in the famous Jeep vehicle were emphasized today by James Embree of the Albany Avenue Garage, in connection with the current drives for automotive safety.

Embree said that "by providing extra ground-gripping traction under all driving conditions, four-wheel drive offers a degree of motoring safety unattainable in vehicles which provide only conventional two-wheel motive power."

Embree pointed out that another safety feature is the ability of the four-wheel drive to slow the vehicle through engine compression braking action on all four wheels. This lessens the need to apply excessive brake pressure at higher speeds, thus avoiding skids. The Jeep also features the "dual brake system," said the Albany Avenue Garage proprietor.

Two Drivers Fined

Two drivers charged with speeding were fined $10 each in city court today. They were: Linda G. Dunn, 18, of Connelly and Margaret A. Henry, 26, of Salem Street, Port Ewen. Joan E. Incalcaterra, 31, of 22 Hurley Avenue, also charged with speeding, was fined $10 Wednesday.

The havens are being ruined.

Deserters are increasing.

The civilian population in areas under the thumb of the Viet Cong, who are forced to work for the Communists, are moving out of the target zones. The guerrillas are now being saddled with extra work, and they are in trouble as a consequence.

And finally, the more new holes the Viet Cong has to dig for hideouts, the less fighting he's able to do in the field.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Demand for Benguet and other issues injected some spark into an otherwise cautious and slightly lower stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

Changes were fractional for most key stocks and quite a few showed no change at all.

The blue chips still were dragging their heels but their losses were so slight that there was little impact on the averages.

Meanwhile, some of the more volatile glamour stocks recovered from early indifference and began to run ahead.

The big individual feature was Benguet which had a huge percentage gain following publication of a report that the Philippine mining company was selling a copper ore body there to a Japanese company.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.67 at 927.33.

Analysts noted that traders usually even-up on Thursdays, balancing gains against losses as a preweekend precaution. The slackness of the market was expected.

On the American Stock Exchange, prices rallied after a mixed start. Trading was heavy. Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Charged Leaving Scene

Robert Randall Slater, 22, of Potter Hill Road, Lake Katrine, was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs John McSpirt and Marshall Canova Wednesday on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. Taken before Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver of Town of Escopus, Slater was held in $100 bail for a hearing later.

Two Charges Dismissed

Two charges against Charles Butcher, 22, of Flatbush Road, dating back some time, were dismissed today in city court. He had been charged with third degree assault lodged by John Brown, formerly of Murphy Street, but whose present address is now unknown, and with forgery said to have involved a check, Attorney Bernard A. Feeney Jr., assigned by the court, appeared for him.

Solons Ready . . .

willingness to modernize New York State's divorce statute, the legislative leaders moved to curb the practice by which New Yorkers pretend to establish residence in an easy divorce state, then return after obtaining a decree.

Under terms of the leaders' bill, such a person would have to live outside this state for at least 18 months. If he maintained a residence here, obtained a divorce within 12 months of leaving or returned within 18 months of departure, the divorce would not be recognized.

This provision came under immediate attack by sponsors of a divorce reform measure recommended earlier by the session by a Senate-Assembly committee that studied the divorce problem.

The committee chairman, Sen. Jerome L. Wilson, D-Manhattan, said the limitation violated U.S. Constitutional provisions requiring states to recognize other's lawful acts.

Wilson's committee had recommended changes similar to other provisions in the bill, with these exceptions:

Some Exceptions

The imprisonment ground would have set the sentence at five years, instead of three, and the living-apart provision would be limited to a separation of two years, instead of five.

Moreover, under the committee plan, a couple would not have to obtain a legal decree of separation as a preliminary to voluntary divorce.

The committee's "divorce-by-consent" proposal had been sharply criticized by opponents of divorce reform, notably the Roman Catholic Church.

Wilson's chief ally in the Assembly, Democrat Percy Sutton of Manhattan, said the leaders' change in the provision would "destroy the social advance we have been trying to make."

He pointed out that, in order to obtain a separation decree, a couple would have to show that one partner had been guilty of a serious fault.

"But we have been trying to move toward the no-fault divorce," he asserted.

Would Double Costs

Another critic of the leaders' bill said addition of the legal separation proceeding would double the average cost of a divorce in this state — to $1,000 to $1,500.

Wilson and Sutton said they would try to amend the leaders' bill when it comes up for a vote. They objected also to provisions for conciliation machinery, designed to restore marriages on the verge of breakup.

The Brydges - Travia bill would establish a conciliation bureau, headed by a State Supreme Court justice, in each judicial district. The judges would be empowered to order marital partners to participate in conciliation conferences, as a prerequisite to divorce, and they would appoint conciliation counselors to conduct such proceedings.

Wilson protested that such a provision was "coercive and onerous and authoritarian."

Sutton indicated he would vote reluctantly for the Brydges - Travia bill if amendments failed, but Wilson would not commit himself.

In any event, with the Legislature's top leaders piloting the measure, its passage was a virtual certainty.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

No Govts. Exempt From Federal Income Taxes

(Q) "My husband passed away and left me with a child one year-old. I invested in General Telephone, Firestone and Square D, all to be placed in trust for her. I also bought 100 Dictaphone for myself. An insurance policy of $10,000 was left with the company and pays me four per cent interest. Should I leave the money with the insurance company or invest in tax-free Government bonds at five per cent interest? Should I sell any of the above investment stocks? I have $10,000 in savings."

—B. M.

(A) I am sincerely sorry to read of your husband's death. Please let me correct you on a very common misapprehension. Government bonds are exempt from state income levies but they are all subject to payment of Federal income taxes. Switch your insurance money into Treasuries if you need relatively high and assured income. Do so, however, only if you fully understand their tax position and the fact that although they are already pretty well depressed, there is no assurance that they may not work even lower.

I would hold Square D and General Telephone. Firestone has made little headway for years and I would switch this stock into Phillips Petroleum. Your Dictaphone is an excellent piece of equipment field and I believe it has a good future and should be retained.

(Q) "Should I hold Studebaker, Littion Industries and Zenith Radio for long-term growth or would you suggest any changes?" —F. D.

(A) Provided you understand that Littion and Zenith are glamor stocks selling at high price-to-earnings ratios, I would hold and disregard fluctuations to which this type of issue is vulnerable.

Studebaker is a speculative stock and—unlike the others—is far from having achieved growth status. I would switch this stock into American Hospital Supply, which sells a little above Studebaker and has a stronger growth position.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Urge Corey to Run

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Friends of actor Wendell Corey say petitions have been circulated to nominate the 50-year-old actor to run for Congress in the 28th District.

Corey, who won election to the Santa Monica City Council last April, would face incumbent Rep. Alphonzo Bell for the Republican nomination in the June primary election. Corey's friends said he would announce his political plans at a news conference Friday. Bell, first elected in 1960, has announced he will seek a fourth term.

Home Builders Hear Progress Report on MHV

Discussion of the Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress Organization was highlighted at a meeting Wednesday night of the Home Builders Association of the Hudson Valley in Newburgh. Some 80 members and guests of the Association heard an outline on the organization's progress by the main speaker, Charles E. Moehrke, public relations representative of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. Moehrke outlined the advantages and assets of the Hudson Valley and listed some of its liabilities and problems. He said that the Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress Organization was the outgrowth of a conference held in December 1964 attended by approximately 400 people from the Mid-Hudson Valley at the State University College at New Paltz. He said that the aims of the Organization were to preserve and enhance the assets of the region and if possible to erase its liabilities.

Commends Wife In Last Letter; Killed in Viet

GORHAM, Maine (AP) — Sgt. Raymond E. Leighton wrote to his wife that he was the luckiest guy in the world because he had married her. It was his last letter.

Erna Leighton said she knew what had happened when a Marine captain appeared at her door in blue dress uniform. He informed her Leighton was killed in Viet Nam Monday. Then came the letter: "Boy, I'll be so darn glad when I get home and see my two sons — and most of all you," he wrote. His oldest son, Ken, is 18 months old. Mark, who the sergeant never saw, is six months.

Leighton wrote about the package of candy and cake he received from home. "The guys said, 'You are lucky to have a wife that can cook like that' and I said I was the luckiest guy in the world because I have you as my wife."

Home Builders Association, announced that the association's annual spring dinner dance will be held May 14 at the Holiday Inn, Fishkill. Reports at the meeting were also made by Louis Ritter on membership and Michael Guttman on bills now before the State Legislature that would have an effect on the Home Building Industry.

Declare Gotham Taxes Are Unfair To Non-Residents

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Proposed New York City tax increases have been termed "unfair" to Connecticut residents and business firms by State Tax Commissioner John L. Sullivan.

The commissioner commented Wednesday concerning his report to Gov. John Dempsey in which Sullivan listed five New York City taxes which would affect Connecticut.

Tells Views
In an interview, Sullivan described the New York City tax plans as "unfair" to Connecticut residents who work in the city and to Connecticut firms which do business in New York.

Sullivan's list included:
—A tax on personal income for persons employed in the city.
—A general corporation tax of 5 1/2 per cent of net income of firms doing business in the city.

—A tax of 1 1/2 per cent on life insurance premiums, 2 per cent on non-life insurance premiums and 5 per cent on profit of firms underwriting ocean marine insurance.

Cities Utilities Tax
—A utilities and transportation tax on firms doing business in the city of from 1/2 to 2 1/2 per cent of gross income.

—And a 50 per cent increase in the present stock transfer tax, which Sullivan said would be reflected in the cost of stocks purchased on the New York Stock Exchange.

In the interview, the tax commissioner said that New York-based insurance firms could expect new levies by other states in reaction to the New York City tax increases.

Tells TV Viewers Read Newspapers For Viet Details
NEW YORK (AP) — Newsman Peter Jennings of the American Broadcasting Co. said Wednesday night he hoped that viewers who watched his 15-minute television news program also read newspapers.

"There is the thought that we in television think we're doing a good job," he said. "We're not." Jennings, who recently spent six weeks in Viet Nam, was a panelist at a forum entitled "Television War Correspondent: The New Breed."

Another panelist, Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, said television reporting of the war in Viet Nam runs the risk of being incomplete because the field cameraman acts as an editor.

Sylvester said he agreed with other panelists, however, that television coverage of the war is expanding and improving.

He also quoted Soviet cosmonauts who suggested the Soviet Union will put up five or more men in the near future. "The Russians have several options and it's only a guessing game which will come first," Sheldon said. "They need extended time in orbit — perhaps 14 to 30 days for a single mission — and their greatest lack of all has been the failure to demonstrate maneuvering capability."
